Favored by Ogilvie Levee Plan Opposed But Has Chance

Despite strong opposition from St. Clair County, there is hope that a proposal for dividing the East Side Levee and Sanitary District can be passed in the current General Assembly session resuming Thursday, Dec. 14.

Developed by a citizen committee, Madison St. Clair County legislators, a House-Senate conference committee and the Illinois Division of Waterways, the two-district plan was endorsed this week by outgoing Governor Richard B. Ogilvie, who will sign it if passed.

The Madison Levee and Sanitary District would serve the area below the county line, principally East St. Louis and Canteen Township.

William M. Ebersold and Russell D. Robinson, elected to the East Side Levee board Nov. 7, would represent the Madison District along with three appointed by the governor, from a list of five names submitted by Senator Sum Vadalabene and Representatives Horace Calvo, Leland Kennedy and Robert Walters.

Romel Wilson, Jack Scoville and Charles Meyers, also elected this month, would continue on the St. Clair district board with two appointed by the governor from recommendations by East St. Louis-Canteen area legislators.

Although there is opposition from some St. Clair politicians, the proposed separation was worked out in a way intended to make both new districts capable of efficient operation.

Sen. Vadalabene said yesterday he supports the two-district plan because "the levee district as it now exists has neglected many of the drainage problems for 65 years, and it is now necessary to correct them."

"The other district (St. Clair) formed from the original district shall reimburse quarterly the district having such obligation and responsibility for a proportionate share of the total thereof, based upon the flow of water and treatment costs related thereto."

"Levee and sanitary districts formed under this section shall be governed, controlled and managed by a board of trustees consisting of five members elected on the first Monday in November 1972 in any existing district shall hold office in 1973 as members of the board of trustees for that levee and sanitary district situated in the county from which they are so elected."

With additional trustees appointed in the same manner provided for filling a vacancy in the board.

Broadway Project Ready to Proceed

Construction planning for relocation of Broadway in Venice to connect with the newly built Broadway underpass and highway approaches will be completed by the first of the year, with a bid call likely in early spring.

The relocation of the bridge will be completed by the first of the year, with a bid call likely in early spring.

Mayor John E. Lee told the Venice City Council Tuesday night he was informed by Edward J. Jeneau of Sheppard, Morgan & Schwaab, the city's consulting engineers, that the Illinois State Department of Transportation is near completion of working plans and expects to be ready to call for bids at the end of the year.

The relocation will turn Broadway directly west at Third Street, continuing through the underpass about 800 feet to a point north of the Broadway and Main Street intersection, and south on Main Street to a point

Madison County in particular has been short-changed."

Hiring of professional levee district administrators is among the steps that would be possible if House Bill 2416 is amended as proposed.

It is proposed that the North Pump Station, situated in St. Clair County but primarily serving Madison County, become a temporary responsibility of the Division of Water Resource Management.

The proposed amendment provides that the present levee district be "divided for more effective administrative and fiscal control into separate districts, with the county line as the boundary between."

"With the name of the county as the first word in the name of the levee and sanitary districts resulting from such division."

"Drainage—levee, sanitary and appurtenant or related improvements, situated in one county and serving more than one county shall continue to serve any newly-formed districts."

"The operation, maintenance, repair, rehabilitation, restoration and replacement costs of such facilities common to the districts—involving an outlet structure, reservoir or impoundment, or pumping station in the Mississippi River—shall be assumed by and become the obligation and responsibility of the newly-formed district (Madison) having the greater portion of the drainage area now being served by such facilities in the original district."

"The other district (St. Clair) formed from the original district shall reimburse quarterly the district having such obligation and responsibility for a proportionate share of the total thereof, based upon the flow of water and treatment costs related thereto."

"Levee and sanitary districts formed under this section shall be governed, controlled and managed by a board of trustees consisting of five members elected on the first Monday in November 1972 in any existing district shall hold office in 1973 as members of the board of trustees for that levee and sanitary district situated in the county from which they are so elected."

18 Persons Left Homeless by Fire

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Eighteen persons, mostly children, were left homeless as a fire swept through three houses in the 1200 block of Logan Street in North Venice Tuesday. There were no injuries.

Homes destroyed by fire were those of Armond Anderson, 1207 Logan; Mrs. Jean Barney and her three children, 1207A Logan; Jack McKellan, 1209 Logan; and Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Watts, their five children and five grandchildren at 1211 Logan.

The fire apparently started in the top floor at 1207 Logan St. Mrs. Barney's home. The cause is unknown. The two-story frame house burned quickly and spread to Anderson's one-story frame house, firefighters said.

Flames engulfed both homes and firemen were unable to keep the fire from spreading to Watts' home.

Both residences at 1207 and 1209 Logan burned to the ground. Only the shell of half of the Watts' house was left standing.

Madison Firemen Aid Venice firemen were called to the scene at 10:30 a.m. when a blaze was out of control when they arrived. At 10:35 a.m. the Madison Fire Department was asked to send assistance.

The two Venice units and one from Madison finally brought the fire under control about 12:30 p.m. and Venice firemen remained on the scene until 2:30 p.m. guarding against re-occurrences.

Only the Watts family was able to salvage any belongings and spread to Anderson's home. "Very little" could be saved.

Local charitable agencies were quick to respond and provided clothing to all of the fire victims. Groceries also were given to one family.

Families Need Help Despite the help, the families are in desperate need of food, clothing and money, a spokesman for one of the agencies said yesterday. An appeal was made for help from local residents.

Donations may be left at the Salvation Army office, 1900 Grand Ave., or be collected from those calling the Salvation Army at 451-7977.

The families also are in need of permanent housing and anyone who can assist in finding available dwelling units is urged to contact the Salvation Army.

Motorist Being Tailgated Shot, Wounded in Chest

Russell C. Walts, 20, of 204A Washington Ave., was shot in the upper chest after he had stopped at a traffic light at Washington Avenue and approached another motorist who had been tailgating him, it was reported to police at 7:10 p.m. Monday.

Mrs. Pamela Walts, wife of the victim who was with him, told police that her husband parked on 21st Street and drove to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she assisted him through the front entrance.

The victim lost consciousness at the main desk, and after being treated in the emergency room, he was admitted to the intensive care unit. Police said he was unable to talk at the time.

Mrs. Walts told police that she and her husband left their apartment, entered their car, parked on 21st Street and headed south when her husband saw the other car directly behind him in the 2000 block of Washington Avenue.

There was no description of the other car nor its occupants listed in the police report. Police are investigating.

fire. Venice and Madison firemen poured thousands of gallons of water into the structures before bringing the blaze under control.

Variety of Problems Hindering United Fund

By WILLIAM F. WINTER
Editor
(First of two articles)

"Victory has a thousand fathers; defeat has only one." Generosity, concern, financial ability, awareness and leadership are considered to be vital ingredients of a successful United Fund drive.

All of the ingredients are present in the Quad-Cities, and yet the current UF campaign seems doomed to failure despite an intensive one-day wrap-up solicitation set for next Tuesday.

Partly due to the lack of an executive director for the 10-county area United Fund service program, most of the 12-month-a-year contacts considered essential to United Fund success have not been made.

Individuals, organizations and firms in many instances this fall slashed previous contributions by large percentages and dollar amounts—without adequate understanding of how ad-versely their inaction affected the joint community undertaking.

Some whole categories of businesses averaged $5 or $10 yearly pledges to the Tri-Cities Area UF this fall without apparent recognition that such a gift—divided by 19 agencies—amounts to only a half-penny or penny a week per agency.

Although some professional people are major contributors, many other professionals make pledges which are dwarfed by those of welders and laborers. The public has shown exceptional support of education and other tax-based programs, but school personnel in particular and public employees in general are among the weakest links in the UF chain.

And even if all the disappointments were balanced out by happier developments—if every giver who cut his pledge were replaced by another person who boosted his donation—100% of the $42,661 goal still would not be achieved. Why?

Drive success would still elude this community because the full challenge has not been spelled out in each division and committee. The 12 categories of the Commercial Division, for example, do not know what they would have to raise in order for their individual goal to be attained.

No one, at least in recent years, has built a paper chart which pyramids financial requests and expectations from each segment, building up toward likely divisional and aggregated accomplishments.

Instead, agency requests are received and verified as to validity; the figures are pared to a level which, someone feels, may be obtainable; and then the grand total needed is divided up among the various divisions. This is done without a specific decision that a particular division total is feasible, or an explanation of in what way it would be feasible.

This is not to say that there is actual inability to

Problem for County Tax Ruling Aids Cities And Schools

By MARION BARTOSIAK
Press-Record Staff Writer

Madison County charge-back assessments to the various taxing districts to finance the collection of taxes were ruled unconstitutional Wednesday by Circuit Judge James O. Monroe at Edwardsville.

The ruling will mean a loss of about $800,000 in county revenues counted upon to balance the county's 1973 operating budget, according to County Auditor John Kraynak.

It also will mean a gain of about the same amount for taxing bodies as cities, villages, school districts, park districts, levee districts, fire protection districts and lighting districts.

Judge Monroe ruled in favor of the City of Venice, which filed the suit contesting the legality of the rebate on grounds that there was no constitutional or statutory provisions for the assessment against the tax district, joining in the suit with

In a 21-page opinion, Judge Monroe said the county ordinance adopted by the Board of Supervisors last spring was not authorized by the constitution or state statutes.

The opinion said that the county action is in "violation of Section 9, Article 7 of the Illinois Constitution of 1870" and that there was no basis for the county claim or defense of it in whole or in part, and that further collections from local taxing bodies under the county ordinance should be enjoined.

The judge ruled that any amounts already collected should be released to the local taxing bodies, plus costs. He denied any relief to the county in its counterclaim.

Assessments against the local districts were based on 2 1/2% of collections, much of which had been collected by County Treasurer George Musso and invested under escrow.

No County Recovery

Kraynak said there is no way to recover the loss the county will suffer unless an appeal is filed, but he noted that the current state's attorney who represented the county government in the suit and would file an appeal is leaving office as of Monday.

He said Madison and other counties faced with similar tax collection problems are hoping that the state legislature, either in this fall's special session or in the next session next January, will revive and adopt a bill providing a solution. Such legislation was tabled last spring in Springfield.

Kraynak claimed that the county so far has paid $235,000 to former township tax collectors to finance the collections, and said attempts will be made to recover those funds. It would help ease the fiscal year burden for the new fiscal year starting tomorrow.

Maximum Tax Rate He added that it also would mean continuation of the maximum tax rate of 10 cents plus 1 cent for elections per $100 valuation for the county general revenue fund. Hoping to be counted for a reduction in the rate by about four cents.

Of the total of $470,002 charged against Quad-City tax districts last July, $231,668, or 49%, was billed against the Granite City School District.

Amounts which would be charged against taxing bodies, including the cost of collecting county taxes, in the Quad-Cities area, by township, are: Granite City Township, $180,615; City of Granite City, $59,037; East Side Levee & Sanitary District, $21,318; county, $21,318; Granite City Park District, $11,715; and Granite City Township, $8,838.

Venice Township

Venice Township, Venice School District, $26,277; Madison School District, $19,643; City of Venice, $13,409; Granite City School District, $2,897; City of Madison, $7,912; Venice Township, $4,251; road and bridge, $711; Venice Park District, $2,633; levee district, $1,409; and county, $7,419.

Namekoti Township, Granite City School District, $13,434; North Lake Fire District, $1,304; township, $2,397; road and bridge, $3,025; county, $5,072; levee district, $4,826; Madison School District, $4,011; and City of Madison, $595.

Chouteau Township, Township, $1,945; road and bridge, $1,389; county, $3,381; Mitchell Fire District, $520; levee district, $407; and Granite City School District, $13,622.

Condominium and Road Garner City Approval

Construction of a $4 million condominium complex that will provide 272 apartment units will get under way immediately, possibly within a week or two, it was reported today following City Council action Monday night clearing the way for the project.

The council, by an 11 to 2 vote, adopted an ordinance authorizing Ralph Harris, 2 Broad Lane, a local contractor, to construct an extension of Village Lane to connect the present Village Lane with the new road.

Harris said he expects to begin work on the Village Lane road within the next few days. He said an access road then will be built to the construction area so that actual groundbreaking on the complex itself may be started.

The ordinance approved by the City Council Monday night authorized Harris to construct the connecting link of Village Lane to provide a through road extending from Pontoon Road to Stratford Lane.

The measure also authorized the issuance of building permits for the construction work. The use of family dwellings so that no rezoning procedures will be necessary.

The council members opposed adoption of the ordinance clearing the way for construction of the complex. They were Aldermen Walter Nomm and Gerald Parmley who claimed that facilities for drainage of the area are inadequate.

Illinois Senate Cites Leadership by Smith

Text of an Illinois Senate resolution, introduced by State Senator Sam M. Vadalabene and adopted Tuesday, follows. It eulogizes the late U. S. Senator Ralph T. Smith, a native Granite Cityan.

WHEREAS, the Senate of this Seventy-Seventh General Assembly was deeply shocked and saddened to learn of the sudden and untimely death of our good friend and former Speaker in the House Chamber, the former United States Senator, the Honorable Ralph Tyler Smith; and

WHEREAS, Senator Smith was born in Granite City, Ill., where he attended elementary and high school before attending and receiving degrees in arts and law from Illinois College in Jacksonville, Ill., and Washington University Law School in St. Louis, Mo., and

WHEREAS, he began the general practice of law in 1940 in Alton, where he resided and practiced law for the rest of his life except for a short period in 1941 while he was an attorney for a railroad company in Springfield, and for a five-year period of service to his country in World War II...

Starting with his enlistment in the U. S. Naval Reserve in 1942 and being commissioned an ensign, through becoming an instructor in a Midshipman School, escorting convoys for 17 months, to being detached in 1945 and assigned as commanding officer of the U.S.S.P.G. 28, which he took command of in Guam and took to Okinawa and Japan before being released to inactive duty in 1946 as a lieutenant and

WHEREAS, Senator Smith was known to us as a fellow legislator and good friend; who, as Speaker of the House, always commanded our deepest respect and cooperation in the business of this General Assembly which requires action by both the Senate and House members on every piece of legislation; and

WHEREAS, Senator Smith was first elected to the House in 1954 and was re-elected seven times thereafter, becoming its majority whip in 1963 and its speaker in 1967 and again in 1969...

In which latter capacity his outstanding qualities and unusual talents for leadership of that large assemblage of partisan members asserted themselves, and there was never any lack of firm control and

Industrial College Group Tours GC Steel Co. Plant

Nineteen student officers of the Industrial College of the Armed Forces at Washington, D.C., toured the Granite City Steel Co. here yesterday in one of a series of visits to government, industrial and business points in the Missouri-Illinois metropolitan area. The tours throughout the area began Monday and are to continue through tomorrow. A graduate-level military educational institution, the Industrial College conducts a 10-month resident course in national security for Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard officers and civilian government executives. The visit in the St. Louis area is an extension of their studies, emphasizing management of national resources. Meetings with civic leaders were held to familiarize the students with local urban problems. During conferences with top-level business executives, the students had an opportunity to study and observe the management practices and techniques of several major firms. The students have visited the mayor's office in St. Louis, the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, the Federal Reserve Bank, Anheuser-Busch Co., the City Planning Commission, Granite City Steel Co., General Dynamics Corp., Laclede Gas Co., and McDonnell Aircraft Co. Vice Admiral J. V. Smith, USN, is commandant of the Industrial College. Major General Edward A. McGough, III, USAF, is deputy commandant.

Levee Plan

(by the governor, from a list provided by the area's state legislators) to bring the total number of trustees to five for each district.

"The names of persons qualified shall be limited to five in number regardless of whether more than one trustee is to be selected and appointed by the governor therefrom.

"Such trustees shall hold office for the remainder of the four-year term and until their successors are elected and qualified.

"Nothing in this amendatory act of 1972 shall impair the security of any indebtedness of the original district incurred before the effective date of this act of 1972.

"The new districts shall pay a proportionate share of the indebtedness of the original districts outstanding on the effective date of this act of 1972, according to the percentage of equalized assessed valuation of all taxable property in the new districts to the total equalized assessed valuation of all property within the boundaries of the original district on the effective date of this amendatory act of 1972.

"The direct annual tax provided for to pay the interest on and principal of such indebtedness shall continue to be levied and extended against all the taxable property within the boundaries of the original district as they existed immediately prior to the formation or creation of the levee and sanitary districts with a county line as a common boundary...

"Levied in the manner provided for the levy, extension and collection of taxes of districts situated in more than one county, until said indebtedness incurred before the effective date of this amendatory act has been paid in full.

"Each property belonging to an original district shall be allocated to successor levee and sanitary districts in accordance with the county in which the real property is situated.

"Tangible personal property shall be allocated between such districts in accordance with the location of the respective facilities under which the personal property is listed in the latest inventory of the former district.

"Cash shall be allocated between the districts in proportion to the assessed valuation of the taxable property therein on the effective date of this amendatory act of 1972.

"This act does not impair the validity or affect the ordinances, orders, resolutions or the collection of taxes of the former district, including 1972 taxes payable in 1973.

"Each levee and sanitary district created under this act shall be responsible for the protection or defense, as the case may be, of any cause of action arising within the territorial area comprising such districts and accruing before the effective date.

"Any amounts recovered by a district situated in his county.

"Insurance programs or benefits for employees and trustees, establishment and maintenance of an office for the conduct of official business by the districts and other rights or obligations including, but not limited to, an interim budget — provided under existing legislation shall remain in full force and effect until such time as otherwise provided for by the newly formed districts, which shall be accomplished within one year from approval of this amendatory act of 1972.

"Each district formed under this act, unless otherwise provided by law, shall assume full responsibility for and be and become obligated to perform all necessary maintenance, repair, rehabilitation, restoration or replacement of the levees, ditches, drains or other buildings, structures or facilities.

"Each shall cooperate with each other to continue an effective operation for the drainage of storm water, operation of sanitary sewer, treatment plants and other facilities in the area of the original district, and may mutually enter into and enforce contracts to assure such cooperation.

"Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in this or any other act, the board of the original district shall adopt such supplemental appropriation ordinances as may be necessary to provide for the expenses of the newly-formed districts for the fiscal period from the first Monday in December 1972 through calendar year 1973, which may be ratified by the boards of the newly-formed districts upon assumption of office.

"The taxes assessed and collected for this purpose shall be paid and paid to the appropriate district."

Rail Shipment Hazard Seminar Here Next Week

On Dec. 4 and 5, the Illinois Terminal Railroad Co. will conduct safety seminars in Springfield and the Quad-Cities for firemen and police on the prevention and control of accidents involving hazardous commodities.

E. F. Moore, Illinois Terminal director of security and special services, said, "Every effort is being made by the railroad industry to transport hazardous materials, such as liquefied petroleum gas, anhydrous ammonia and other commodities, safely."

"Railroads have a responsibility to the communities they serve to insure that every precaution is taken to protect life and property in the event of a railroad accident involving hazardous materials. Firemen and police responding to such accidents must be fully aware of correct procedures to follow in combating fires or escaping gases."

"These seminars, which will be conducted from 1 to 4 p.m. each day, will cover such procedures as well as proper methods of combating fires involving hazardous materials."

There will be no charge for attendance at the seminar. The local session will be at 1 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 5, at Sunset Hill Holiday Inn.

Glen Wickam, 57, Found Dead at Home

Glen Wickam, 57, of 1837a State St., was pronounced dead at his home at 8:05 a.m. today by Deputy Coroner Robert Thomas Jr. An inquest is pending.

Police were summoned to the address when neighbors failed to hear Mr. Wickam moving in the apartment, it was learned. The coroner's deputy said Mr. Wickam was lying in bed.

Death is believed to have occurred about 7 a.m. today.

A native of Missouri, Mr. Wickam lived in Granite City 40 years. He was a member of Laborers and Hodcarriers Union, Local 807, and had worked out of the local's office here for more than 30 years.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Frances Wickam; three daughters, Mrs. Donna Lee Bryant and Misses Ina Sue and Patricia Ann Wickam all of Granite City; his mother, Mrs. Grace Wickam of Iberia, Mo.; a sister, Mrs. Maxine Lindsey of Granite City; a brother, Clay Wickam of Iberia; and one grandchild.

Available funeral details are listed in the obituary column.

Nameoki Seeks Safety Devices At Rail Crossing

Installation of traffic safety devices at the railroad crossing on Mockingbird Lane, near Highway 162, is being sought by Nameoki Township officials, who have relayed the request by letter to the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Town Clerk Douglas Teator told the board of auditors at its meeting Monday night that a complaint has been registered with the commission, citing the multiple railroad tracks continuously are blocked by trains, causing frequent and lengthy delays to motorists.

The letter also asked that railroad companies using the tracks be required to show that traffic safety devices should not be installed at the crossing, Teator explained.

Numerous complaints from residents concerning blockage of the crossing have been referred to the Madison County Sheriff's office and the Illinois State Police without results, he noted.

Auditors authorized payment of $25 bond premiums for five special deputies in the State Park Place area, subject to renewal of commissions and approval of individuals by the sheriff's department. A request to increase the number of deputies from four to five also was approved.

In other business, the town board members voiced support for the proposed plan of an Illinois-U.S. Bicentennial Park linking Horseshoe Lake State Park and Cahokia Mound State Park, a project backed by agencies and individuals in St. Clair and Madison counties.

Highway Commissioner Albert Bell reporting on a meeting he attended, called by the Street and Highway Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, said attention was focused on coordinating the construction of sidewalks along with widening of Route 203.

Bell said that present policy calls for children who will attend the new Granite City High School-North and live east of Pontoon Road and west of the Alton & Southern railroad tracks to walk to the new school.

Sidewalks presently extend only to Harrison Avenue from

COLLIDE ON BRIDGE

The cars of Clyde Gaker, 1515 State St., and Helena McKenzie, 124 Garasche Homes, Madison, collided on the east end approach to McKinley Bridge in Venice at 7:50 a.m. Wednesday.

The site of the new building along 203, he said. Additional walkways are needed on Maryville Road, the highway official added.

It was reported that a bid had been accepted from the Prudential Insurance Co. to provide health and life coverage for township employees and officers.

Balances in various funds were reported as: Town fund, $48,564; special hard road, $31,534; road and bridge, $48,962; general assistance, $8,197; municipal retirement, $8,730; and special bridge, $853.

A total of $115,000 currently is invested, with interest received to date amounting to $4,710, Teator said.

MY LAI ACQUITAL

A Army Capt. Ernest L. Medina was acquitted of all charges in the My Lai case on Sept. 22, 1971.

EARLY RUNNER. Richard Bruce, right, a fourth grader at McKinley School, has completed a total of 25 miles of running in the Milers' Running Exercise Program at the school. Many fourth through sixth graders voluntarily run each day before school. They drop a paper slip in a box for each lap completed. Holding the box is James Morgan. Jimmy Jackson is in the background.

Police Recover Stolen Items in Venice

Venice police recovered a stolen tool box and battery charger when four youths ran from an approaching squad car, leaving the items on the sidewalk at College and Salveter streets in Venice at 7:55 p.m. Tuesday. A stolen suitcase was found later in the railroad yard at Second and State streets.

The items had been taken earlier from the truck of William Schneider, St. James, Mo., while the truck was parked at Second and State streets in Madison. Schneider reported the theft at 7:50 p.m.

COLLIDE ON BROADWAY

The autos of James Eddings, East St. Louis, and Nancy M. Lemler, 2533 Revere's Route, collided at Market Street and Broadway in Venice at 11:40 a.m. Tuesday.

CAR, TRUCK COLLIDE

The auto of Julie H. Barnes, 3029 Dule Ave., and the truck of Roosevelt Sims, East St. Louis, were damaged in an accident at 1:35 p.m. Tuesday in the 700 block of Broadway in Venice.

Delinquent Taxpayers Out to Beat Tax Sale

Many Madison County residents who were delinquent in paying their taxes have been making the payments to beat the annual property tax sale on Dec. 11, the county treasurer's office reported.

Delinquent tax collections this year have been much greater than in past years, according to a deputy treasurer, as notices have been sent to the residents involved of the sale and the interest rates which could be charged by tax buyers.

Taxpayers settling their bills before the tax sale pay penalties of one per cent per month interest since Sept. 1, and those who pay after the sale will face immediate penalties of up to 12%.

The tax sale will start Dec. 11 at the treasurer's office in the county courthouse.

France was proclaimed a republic on Sept. 21, 1792.

More Seminars On Air Pollution Control Permits

Copley News Service
Springfield — An estimated 19,000 firms in Illinois will have to obtain air pollution control permits between Dec. 1 and next June 1.

To inform them of requirements, and expedite applications, workshops and seminars have been held throughout the state, but industry seems to be staying away in droves.

"Workshops have been attended by only about 25% of the companies invited so far," Keith Conklin, manager of the state permit section, division of air pollution control, reports. "We are hoping for better turnout in the future. The assistance is here if industry will take advantage of it."

In a further attempt to reach concerned industries, two major seminars and a number of workshops are planned through December in the five air quality regions of the state. The seminars are scheduled for Chicago and Springfield, while workshops will be held in Rockford, Rock Island, Chicago, Peoria, Champaign, St. Louis and Marion.

To date, the Environmental Protection Agency has held 20 major permit seminars and 153 workshops since July.

More than 2,880 representatives of Illinois companies have received aid in completing plans for installing and operating air pollution control facilities, most of it through the seminar and workshop program.

Any firm, Conklin said, which intends to install and operate either emission sources, themselves or air pollution control facilities, must first obtain a permit from the EPA to insure that the installation and operation will meet state and federal clean air standards.

Games were played and prizes were awarded to Betty Wamecke, Penny Scott, Anabel Murphy, Dorothy Williams, Mamie Elmore, Dorothy Williams, Clayton Presley, Wanda Gregory and Mickey Simpson.

Other guests included Ruth Alexander, Brenda Alexander, Martha Katzman, Ann Meyer, Mary James, Esther Mogat, Alice Gregory and Brenda Gregory.

The Mitchell Presbyterian Church was host to the board of Protestant Welfare. Women of the church served refreshments.

GRAND AVENUE CRASH

The auto of Ruth A. Houser, 29 Bermuda Lane, stopped waiting for another car to turn, was struck from the rear by the car of Carl D. Foville, 2000 Edwardsville Road, Madison, in the 2900 block of Grand Avenue at 3:30 p.m. yesterday.

Two Girls, 6 and 8, Hit by Car, Injured

Two girls, 6 and 8 years of age, were injured when struck by the auto of Cedric J. Starnes, 713 N. 26th St., at 23rd Street and Madison Avenue at 4 p.m. yesterday. Starnes was charged with driving while his license was revoked.

Injured were Kim Theis, 6, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Theis, 2238 Cleveland Blvd., and Michelle Werner, 8, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Werner, 2254 Cleveland Blvd.

The girls reportedly ran hand-in-hand into Madison Avenue from behind two eastbound buses and were struck by Starnes' westbound car. Starnes said he did not see them until they emerged from behind the buses and he was unable to stop before striking them.

The hospital reported both girls were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where x-rays of her right thigh and pelvis were taken and she was transferred to Jewish Hospital. She was reported in satisfactory condition today.

Deadline Friday for Gift Basket Requests

Forty brilliant bulls illuminate the Salvation Army "Tree of Lights" today, representing contributions of $1,016 to the annual fund-raising appeal which provides Christmas baskets to Quad-City families in need. A total of $12,000 is being sought.

Applications for the holiday gift baskets and related services furnished each year will be accepted only through 4 p.m. Friday at the Salvation Army office, 1909 Grand Ave.

Emerson PTA members, serving as bellringers at Nameoki Village Shopping Center Tuesday, collected $41,400 yesterday. Mrs. Alvinette Metcalf, campaign chairman, announced today.

Ring the bells at the Salvation Army's "Tree of Lights" sites all day Friday will be the Tri-City American Legion Auxiliary Unit 133 and on Saturday, the Suburban Baptist Church Youth Groups are scheduled to solicit donations from shoppers, Mrs. Metcalf said.

Donors contributing $25 or more to the current drive, include:

Cooks and Waitresses Union, Local 461; W. F. and V. H. Jeffers (2 lights); Harmony Sunday School; Class of Electrons United Methodist Church; Granite City Steel Employees; Federal Credit Union; Dr. Val Geroff; Dr. Elvin Geroff; Kentucky Fried Chicken employees (4 lights); Mrs. Lucy Weaver; and Mr. and Mrs. George Louis.

Brother Dies Tuesday

Charles Lindhorst, 76, of East Carondelet, the brother of Mrs. Viola Bicer of Granite City, died Tuesday at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville. He was a retired farmer. Services will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at a Columbia funeral home.

STEREO STOLEN

The home of Mae Lee Leonard, 823 Salver Avenue, Venice, was ransacked between 6 p.m. and 10:45 p.m. Wednesday. A stereo component was stolen. Entry was gained by breaking a rear bedroom window.

Federal Jury Awards Widow $55,000

Mrs. Alice Hoult of Champaign, formerly of Madison, was awarded actual damages of $50,000 and punitive damages of $5,000 by a federal district court jury Wednesday in Danville as a result of the fatal shooting of her husband.

The husband, Edgar Hoult, was shot on April 29, 1970, by a Champaign police officer following a high-speed auto chase in Champaign in connection with a traffic violation.

The officer, Fred Eastman, previously was acquitted in a criminal trial of charges of murder and involuntary manslaughter in connection with the shooting. He testified that he drew his gun to fire a warning shot as he was pursuing Hoult on foot after the auto chase but he slipped on wet ground and the gun discharged accidentally.

Granco Headquarters Will Move to Houston

The headquarters of Granco Steel Products Co., now at 606 North Broadway, St. Louis, will be moved to Houston, Texas, next summer, Robert W. Smith, vice president-general manager of Granco, announced today.

Granco, which develops and markets floor and roof systems for the construction industry, is a unit of National Steel Corp. By moving to Houston, Granco will be able to avail itself of extensive research and development services and communications facilities at the headquarters of National's Stran-Steel Corp.

Granco will remain a separate unit of National Steel, operating as an autonomous profit center.

Smith said some of Granco's 33 headquarters employees will move to Houston. The number has not yet been determined. Granco will continue to operate district sales offices in various cities, including St. Louis.

It originally was established by Granite City Steel Co. and once was based in North Venice.

Seats Available for Dinner-Theatre Trip

Tire Pressure Can Cost Consumers

By EDWARD NEILAN
Copley News Service

Washington — The latest area of everyday life to come under scrutiny is how to pump up our automobile tires.

A report by a presidential advisory panel says chances are we're doing it wrong—to the tune of millions of dollars a year wasted in tire wear and tear due to improper inflation.

Undersecretary of Commerce James T. Lynn, in commenting on a report on automobile tire inflation by the National Business Council for Consumer Affairs, said surveys show that a striking number of automobile tires are improperly inflated "thus decreasing the tread mileage and increasing the risk of tire failures."

Help on Way

But, Lynn said, help is on the way if everyone will follow recommendations contained in the NBCCA report "Tire Inflation and the Consumer."

The advisory panel is made up of 100 business executives who put their heads together to come up with these recommendations on pumping up tires:

1. Corporations involved in the sale, servicing and use of passenger car tires should step up efforts to inform consumers on the importance of proper tire inflation.

2. The government should initiate and coordinate a continuing program to assure accurate readings on fixed air pressure measurement devices used in service stations and other business locations to inflate car tires.

"Over and underinflation of tires," Lynn said, "directly results in higher probabilities of tire sidewall failures and other failures which lower the average life of tires—sharply reducing mileage."

"This can cost consumers millions of dollars a year in unnecessary purchases of replacement tires."

Americans will spend an estimated $4.9 billion this year alone to buy some 148 million new replacement tires.

A 2% loss in tread wear amounts to a $250 million loss to the nation's consumers, Lynn said. He added "proper maintenance of inflation pressure could substantially increase tire wear."

Agree to Program

The tire industry has put on its best public relations face and agreed to go along with a program to improve the situation—even though it means loss of sales revenue.

Mrs. Ruth Handler, president of Mattel, Inc. and chairman of the NBCCA subcommittee which prepared the report, said the average consumer knows little about tire inflation.

Mrs. Handler said she was encouraged by pledges from the affected industries—tire, automotive, petroleum—to join with the council in undertaking a massive response on behalf of consumers.

"We must bring to the consumers' attention the importance of maintaining correct tire inflation pressures and help provide the tools to do that," Mrs. Handler said.

She said the situation would improve markedly if consumers obtained and used inexpensive hand pressure gauges on a regular basis.

Mrs. Handler noted that a National Bureau of Standards study showed that service stations fixed air "towers" and other similar devices are often improperly calibrated.

Result of Study

The subcommittee referred to recent studies which showed:

1. One out of every four cars has at least one seriously underinflated tire (four pounds per square inch or more below the recommended pressure).

2. Private study showed that 80% of all vehicles checked throughout the country had one or more tires at four pounds per square inch or more under the recommended pressure.

4. Another survey found 15.9% of cars checked to be below 24 pounds per square inch, which is the minimum pressure recommended for tires in car owner manuals.

2 Honored by Academy
Of Family Physicians

Two doctors from the Granite City area have been named fellows of the American Academy of Family Physicians. They are George Francis Dietz, M.D., and G. E. Halvama, M.D.

The degree of fellowship is an acknowledgement of successful completion of 600 or more hours of accredited continuing medical study, or attainment of diplomate status in the specialty of family medicine as the result of passing a certifying examination administered under the aegis of the American Board of Family Practice.

Fellowship entitles the conferee to use the title "Fellow of the American Academy of Family Physicians," or "FAAFP." The degree was conferred this fall on more than 4,200 members of the Academy in conjunction with the AAFP's annual convention

State Releases $5.1 Million in Income Taxes

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie announced Wednesday the distribution of $5,134,002 to Illinois counties and municipalities as their share of state income tax collections for October.

Municipalities received $4,388,131 and $75,821 went to counties, Ogilvie said.

The distribution included $34,499 for Madison County, and the following allotments in the Quad-City area:

Granite City, $18,794; Madison County, $2,161; and Pontoon Beach, $1,130.

The income tax law requires distribution to these units of local government based on the next proceeds of the income tax monies received each month. The distribution is made on a per capita basis to municipalities.

Counties receive distribution on the basis of the county population in unincorporated territories. The Department of Local Government Affairs handles distribution of the funds.

"Thus far, in the fiscal year which began July 1, 1972, $25,330,343 has been distributed to local governments. The total paid during the previous fiscal year (1972) was $24,245,277," Ogilvie said. He continued:

"The particular importance of this distribution is that it is dispensed to the municipalities and counties with no strings attached. Local officials are free to use it for the local needs they consider most pressing."

"All of this money represents either increased capacity for local government or the opportunity to reduce the demand on the local taxpayer to meet the costs of on-going programs."

TV STOLEN

Thieves entered the apartment of Jerri Gray, 1630a Fifth St., Madison through a door that had been left unlocked, between 11:30 and 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, and stole a black and white television set valued at $100.

and scientific assembly in New York City.

Ceremonies were held in Madison Square Garden's Forum before more than 10,500 persons. Fellowship candidates were academic robes, with hoods bearing the blue and gold Academy colors, and mortarboard caps. The oath of fellowship was recited en masse.

Members of the American Academy of Family Physicians, representing more than 32,000 family doctors, is the only national medical group requiring members to take continuing study. Its members must take a minimum of 150 accredited hours every three years.

Headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., the AAFP is observing its 25th anniversary this year. It is the largest of Medicine's specialty groups.

Midgets Win, Pee Wees Lose

The Midget team of the Granite City Amateur Hockey Association won its game at Webster Groves Tuesday 3-2. Goals were scored by Rick Hodge, unassisted; Scott Taff, assisted by David Rapoff; and Cory Worthen, assisted by Rapoff and Taff.

The Pee Wees lost to Webster Groves 3-2 Saturday. Goals for the local team were scored by John Krekovich, unassisted, and Danny Taff, assisted by Stan Zabal.

Seventeen was the lucky number for the Venice High School Red Devils who opened their basketball season Tuesday at Columbia with a 68-52 victory. The local cagers scored 17 points in each quarter.

Columbia nearly entered the even numbers game, dumping 12 points in each of the first three periods before closing with 16 points.

Top point maker for Venice was Dan Severs with 23. For Columbia it was Phil Goudey with 16.

Other Devils scoring were Sonny Wiley 19, Ray Mosby 11, Ron Henry 9 and Tony Sutton 6. Henry, the tall man on the team at 6-5, led in rebounds with 15, with Wiley taking nine off the boards. The Devils totaled 38 rebounds.

Red Devils Win Cage Opener at Columbia 68-52

Each team committed 13 fouls, and no one fouled out. Venice led in field goals 22-22 by hitting 43% on 75 attempts.

From the charity line Columbia led 8-4. The Devils were 33%, having 14 chances for free buckets.

"It was a typical opening with both sides making a lot of mistakes," Venice coach Bill Ohendorf commented.

"We were not consistent and at times we just did not move the ball. When we play Bunker Hill this Friday we're going to need to be a lot sharper. Last year we split with them and they have a tougher team this season."

The Devils have five more road games before they are at home against Lincoln on Jan. 9.

SALTY PARKER Parker With Angels Again

Francis James "Salty" Parker will be the California Angels third base coach in 1973 again, returning to Anaheim after five years service as third base coach for the Astros in Houston.

Parker was captain of the Granite City High School football, basketball and baseball teams in 1929 and 1930. He graduated from GCHS May 29, 1930. He spent four seasons (1938-1941) with the Giants, was at Cleveland in 1962, scouted for the Pirates in 1963, spent three seasons in Angel uniform (1964-1967) and coached the Mets in 1967, finishing the last 11 games that year as a manager.

"He's the hardest working coach I've ever had," Bill Rigney once said.

Season Ticket Sales Underway For Cougars

Season ticket sales for the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville varsity basketball campaign opened Monday. The Cougars capers of Coach J. M. Dudley open on the road Saturday when they travel to Madison to take on the University of Wisconsin. The Badgers opened their season on the Pacific Coast last weekend by losing to UCLA, 94-53.

It will be the first time the Cougars have played a Big Ten basketball team. The Cougars will open at home Tuesday night, Dec. 5, against Southeast Missouri State at the Edwardsville High gym starting at 8 p.m.

SIUE athletic director Bob Guetler said a $10 season pass is available to the public for the 10 games to be played at the Edwardsville High School gym. Two other Cougar games, which would have been home games, were switched to St. Louis' Kiel Auditorium. Students with identification cards will be admitted free at all games at Edwardsville High, while the pair at Kiel will go for $1 each in advance sale.

For the two Kiel games, which will be played prior to St. Louis University contests, tickets for adults will be sold at $2 each in advance. The first Kiel double-header, which pits SIUE against national powerhouse Louisiana Tech at 6 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 9, has the Bills playing Notre Dame. The second twinbill at Kiel has the Cougars battling Eastern Michigan University Sunday afternoon, Feb. 11, in the opener, while St. Louis University will meet the University of South Florida in the finale.

General public sale of tickets for the Cougars' games will be $1.50 at the gate. The $10 advance sale would save a fan $5 for the season.

Season tickets are available by calling 618-682-3684, or writing Bob Guetler, Athletic Director, Athletic Department, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Edwardsville, Ill. 62025.

Trojans Surge, Trip Triad 72-61 In Cage Opener

The opening game of the season was a success for the Madison High School Trojans, but their basketball team was pressed to come from behind to down Triad 72-61 Tuesday night on the MHS hardwoods.

It was a catch-up effort as the Trojans were behind 19-17 after the opening round, 33-28 at the half and 49-48 going into the final stanza.

"We were nervous in the first half and lost 13 turnovers, but then the team began to settle down and start scoring," Trojan Coach Larry Graham remarked. "We only had seven turnovers in the second half. We need to work hard on our passing game and on our rebound. Triad killed us on the boards. We will need to show a lot of improvement when we play at Granite City Friday."

The Trojans outshot Triad from the field 29-25, making 53 attempts at the basket for a 50% average. Triad made 65 attempts for 38%.

From the charity line the Trojans were 14 for 21 attempts for a 67% average and Triad was 11 for 19 for 58%.

With two minutes to go in the third quarter Anthony Matthews fouled out as MHS committed 14 fouls compared to Triad's 17.

Trojan Jerry Belford was the game's high point man with 25 and Triad's Droy, a sophomore, racked up 22.

Other Trojans scoring were Charles Lucas 15, Roger Glassper 6, Chris Stanley and Matthews 4 each, and Robin Pritchard 2.

Triad dominated the backboard with 36 rebounds. Madison had 32. Lucas led the Trojans with 10, followed by Bradley who snagged 8. The Trojan junior varsity won its opening game in the preliminary 64-43 with Ronny Glasper scoring 18 points.

Victory Tavern Bi-County YMCA Football Champions

For the second time in three years the Victory Tavern football team of Madison won the championship in the American division of the Bi-County YMCA football league by defeating the Eagles 13-6.

The Croatian Home team, also of Madison, were edged out of the second-place slot 27-26 by the Gypsies of East St. Louis.

Sam Dymas, the champs manager and coach, was voted by the team as its most valuable player for his support and efforts.

Chick Jakich scored the first touchdown for Victory Tavern in the final game on an end run, in an air attack from Kevin McGovern to Rick Reute-

Carenza, Chester Kowalewski, Steve Elliott, Kevin Howe, Norm Seim, assistant and JV coach Pat McBride, Wilfred Buddell, head trainer, and head coach Bob Guelker. Mike Boland, back; team doctor Emerson Carpenter, M.D., and statistician Gary Billbruck were not present.

Cougar, Akron Kickers To Clash on Saturday

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and the University of Akron will battle it out Saturday afternoon in Akron, Ohio, for the Midwest regional soccer championship of the National Collegiate Athletic Association college division.

The winner will represent the Midwest in the four-team national championship semi-finals and finals to be played at SUE's Cougar Field Thursday, Dec. 7, and Saturday, Dec. 9.

Akron and SUE advanced to their showdown battle by posting victories last Saturday at Cougar Field. The Akron Zips turned back the University of Missouri, St. Louis Rivermen, 4-2, in a foul-filled battle. The Cougar kickers of Bob Guelker eliminated Eastern Illinois University, 3-0, in the semi-finals of the NCAA Midwest regional meet.

Chris Carenza, scoring ace for SUE, paced the Cougars in their victory over Eastern Illinois with a pair of goals and one assist. However, freshman star John Stremlau counted first for SUE when he took a clever pass from Carenza and blasted the ball into the cords at 1:21 into the first half, almost before Cougar fans had settled in their seats.

Carenza's first goal came at 6:00 into the second half on an assist from freshman standout Steve Cacciatore. His second goal was on a direct penalty kick at 42:39 in the second half. His two goals and the assist ran Carenza's season point total to 13 on 11 goals and two assists.

Four defensive lapses cost UMSL dearly in the Rivermen's game with Akron. Akron scored first on a defensive lapse and on the Zips' second shot on goal in a period of time in which UMSL had clearly dominated play with 11 shots on goal to the Zips' two. Tony Leonard, on a pass from Eugene Alfred, scored for Akron at 10:35 into the first half.

Frank Flesch tied it up, 1-1, for UMSL at 29:00 in the first half, but an Akron goal by Rick Putnam at 41:00 in the first half and one by teammate Farrokh Nosrati at 18:51 into the second half removed all doubt as to the game's outcome.

Steve Buckley gave the UMSL fans a brief thrill by cutting Akron's lead to 3-2 with a goal at 36:57 in the second half, but Bonville Salmon's cord-tipper at 44:05 eliminated any chance of the Rivermen tying it up and sending the game into overtime.

The Cougars' record now is 8-3, while Akron has 9-2-2. In weeks ago SUE and Akron battled to a double overtime 2-2 regular season competition two seasons of play, the Zips have yet to beat the Cougars.

Refinishing Hardwood Flooring Requires Time

By GENE GARY
Copley News Service

Q. Where can I obtain information on refinishing hardwood floors? Is there a government pamphlet available on the subject? Would a dealer in hardwood floor material be able to help?—Mrs. R. B.

A. Yes, there is information available on refinishing hardwood floors.

Undoubtedly you can obtain such information at the public library or from a building supply dealer.

And I can give you a general outline on the procedures. First step is a trip to your paint, hardware or tool-rental dealer.

To remove the old finish, you will need a power floor-sanding machine and an edger to sand the edges, and a hand scraper for the corners and sandpaper.

Machine rental rates are reasonable. So is the cost of sandpaper.

Then there is the finishing material. You can choose from several types, such as shellac, varnish, floor seal or the new synthetic-resin chemical coatings.

The properties of shellac and varnish are well known. Chances are your present finish is one of these.

Shellac is fast drying, easy to use and wears well if waxed regularly and compact with water is avoided.

Varnish is slower drying, tends to scratch easily unless protected with wax, but out-ranks shellac in water resistance and gloss.

After removal of the old finish-sanding operations with finer paper are advised. This insures a good smooth surface, a must if you want a first-class job.

After sanding, remove all excess dust with a vacuum cleaner.

Final step is application of the finish, applying whatever product you have chosen.

Q. We have a stucco house which is about 50 years old. It is well built.

A. We had the stucco surface patched and painted when we purchased the house eight years ago. It still looks good. But for comfort, and to save on heat, the house needs to be insulated.

The attic is no problem. That we can do easily.

We have had an estimate for getting the house covered with aluminum siding, but we feel the price is prohibitive, almost half of what was paid for the house eight years ago.

I am afraid that if we have insulation blown in through holes in the stucco, the holes will not be adequately patched and we will have more problems.

Other than selling and moving, what alternatives do we have?—Mrs. R.E.P.

A. Any type of insulation in the walls of an older house may prove to be expensive.

Fire blocks between studs almost makes it impractical to insulate walls by using a blow-in type of insulation.

However, if your house is about 50 years old, it may not have the fire blocks.

In that case, insulation can be poured between the stud spaces by filling holes in the stucco and using either vermiculite or rock-wool pellets.

If this is done properly, the holes in the stucco could be repaired so that they would not show, although you would probably need a repaint job.

Since most of the heat loss is through the ceiling, insulation in the attic should make a marked difference, and insulating the floors if you have a crawl space also should help considerably.

Caulking cracks around window is desirable. Refinishing the house with insulation under asbestos shingles would probably be cheaper than aluminum siding, although aluminum siding would last longer.

Q. I would like to know how to put a permanent gloss on my laminated plastic counter tops.

This dwelling I just purchased is 15 years old, has copertone counter tops flecked with gold and is in pretty good condition.

But the center work areas are dull. It shines only on the edges and waxes peel off.

—Mrs. S.M.B.

A. There are special liquid cleaners for plastics, available in hardware, department and hardware stores.

Follow label directions carefully.

Q. Can you advise the best method for removing dried masking tape glue from unfinished wall paneling? Also, how do you remove finger print stains? Would the best thing be to paint the paneling after the glue has been removed?

I am afraid the fingerprint marks may show through varnish.—Mrs. W.H.T.

A. You can remove the adhesive residue with amyl acetate. This is the same as finger nail polish remover.

If this does not remove the stain to your satisfaction, go over the area with denatured alcohol or naphtha and use the same treatment on the finger print marks.

If the finger prints still remain, try a solution of trisodium phosphate and warm water, rinsing well.

After the area has dried, go over the surface with No. 60 steel wool, following by rubbing with No. 00 sandpaper.

If some stain still shows, you will have to paint, but the above method should prepare the surface for a clear finish.

Mrs. Carrie Smith, 89, Dies Early Today

Mrs. Carrie (Keller) Smith, 89, of 314 Strain St., Sullivan, Ill., died at 8:40 a.m. today at the Pleasant Rest Nursing Home in Collinsville, where she was a patient two days.

'Hard Hat' Will Be Secretary of Labor

President Eisenhower put a plumber in his Cabinet. President Nixon yesterday chose as secretary of labor a "hard hat" — Peter J. Brennan, president of the New York City and State Building Construction Trades Councils.

Retiring Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson praised Brennan as "sincere and competent" but Hodgson was critical of AFL-CIO President George Meany, who had approved of Brennan's selection. "What Meany wanted was for me to be the Earl Butz for organized labor (presenting farmers' point of view as agriculture secretary). I tried to play it right down the middle with an even-handed approach, not interfering in collective bargaining," Hodgson said.

President Nixon on Tuesday decided to name Roy Ash, president of Litton Industries, to replace Caspar Weinberger as director of the Office of Management and Budget, appoint Weinberger as Health, Education and Welfare secretary, succeeding Elliot L. Richardson; and move Richardson to the Defense Department secretary post being vacated by Melvin R. Laird.

GC Jaycees to Celebrate 25th Anniversary Year

More than 200 Jaycees and their guests are expected to attend the 25th anniversary celebration of the Granite City Jaycee Chapter, starting with a cocktail hour at 6 o'clock Saturday evening at the Croatian Hall, Tenth Street and Madison Avenue.

A gourmet dinner and an evening of dancing to the music of the Art Oliver Orchestra will follow, according to Earl Warnhoff, dinner chairman.

Local Jaycee officers will greet many area civic leaders and state Jaycee representatives at the affair, Warnhoff said.

Two Illinois State Police officers, one a resident of Granite City and the other frequently assigned to cases in the Quad-City area, are among nine officers who will be promoted in ceremonies at the Holiday Inn at Route 157 and Interstate 270 at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Rudolph J. Diak, 2128 Clark Ave., a member of the Illinois State Police force since February 1963, will be promoted from trooper to corporal during the ceremony which will be attended by James T. McGuire, superintendent of Illinois State Police.

Terrence E. Delaney, of East St. Louis, also is to be promoted from trooper to corporal. Delaney is a member of the detective division and is assigned out in this area.

Diak graduated from the Illinois State Police Academy in May 1963 and was transferred from District 1 at Sterling, Ill., to District 11 headquarters at Maryville in December 1965.

Diak is married and has three children. Delaney is married and has two children. Delaney has been a state trooper since May 1963.

Mathews Chevrolet to Introduce New Truck

The newest member of Chevrolet's family of trucks—an imported light utility vehicle called LUV—will make its debut Friday at Mathews Chevrolet, 1511 Niedringhaus Ave.

Udell "Skip" Sherman, general manager, said the small 1/2-ton pickup truck is expected to fulfill transportation needs now served by similar imported products. Manufactured by Isuzu Motors Ltd. of Japan under an agreement with Chevrolet, LUV is marketed only by a select group of Chevrolet dealers in certain areas of the United States.

"It will supplement our normal Chevrolet offerings in the commercial vehicle field and will enhance our competitive position in this segment of the market," Sherman said. LUV is offered as a single model equipped with a 4-speed transmission and a 75-horsepower, 110.8-cubic inch 4-cylinder engine. It is available in six colors, including yellow, white, red, beige and light and dark blue.

LUV has a curb weight of 2,450 pounds and will carry up to 1,400 pounds of cargo and people.

HIT-AND-RUN CYCLIST
Randall A. Irwin, 2060 Cleveland Blvd., reported at 3:45 p.m. Tuesday that as he was attempting a right turn into a driveway at 2163 Madison Ave., a motorcyclist attempted to pass on the right, struck his auto and left the scene.

DRIVER INJURED

Bruce M. Frech, 17, of 2533 Boyle Ave., suffered minor injuries when his auto and another driven by David P. Bennett, 18 Fontainebleau Drive, were in an accident at 3:40 p.m. Tuesday at Pontoon and Maryville roads.

AUTO-TRUCK ACCIDENT
An auto driven by David K. Kissel, Rural Route One, and a pickup truck driven by Dan M. Lancaster, 3301 Lake Drive, were in an accident at 4:15 p.m. Tuesday at Pontoon Road and Stearns Avenue.

VANDALISM AT ISES

Vandals bent an outer air vent leading to a rest room window in the Illinois State Employment Service building, 21st and Iowa streets, it was reported at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday.

"VARIETY IS THE SPICE OF LIFE!"
 But what a headache for our buyers. What is the Super-market industry going to do for shelf space? Thank goodness, all I have to do is write advertising layouts and copy, letting you know the many advantages of shopping at Tri-City Grocery Co. stores.
 For over 58 years we've prided ourselves on wide variety, but with intense competition forcing manufacturers to offer more products, shelf space is ebbing away.
 We'll need "wall stretchers" and "double deck shelf parking" if this keeps up! For example, I saw a manager notice yesterday which stated we had 58 kinds of corn, our price book lists 15 kinds and sizes of peas, 22 of peaches, 62 of pickles, 63 jellies and preserves, 67 of cake mixes ... this gives you a rough idea of how our buyers spend their time ... adding foods which they think you'll like. I almost forgot ... frozen foods ... about 420 kinds of them ... some-times I wonder why we're not selling all the groceries in town ... that's a nice vision ... I can dream, can't I? After all, we do have the largest variety (over 8,000 items) plus the lowest prices in this area.
 If you've never visited our stores, drop in and browse around. We believe you'll like our courteous, well-trained personnel, too.

MISS GAIL SCHUBERT, a January bride-to-be, is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Odom, 2912 Fortune Drive.

Gail Schubert to Wed in January

Among the first brides of the New Year will be Miss Gail D. Schubert, whose betrothal and approaching marriage to Philip L. Odom are being announced by the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Schubert, 2912 Fortune Drive.
 Arrangements are being completed for their wedding on Jan. 7 in Granite City.
 The bride-elect, a 1972 graduate of Granite City High School, currently is a student at Belleville Area College.
 Her fiancé is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Odom of New Baden, Ill. A sophomore at the Belleville college, the prospective bridegroom served four years with the U. S. Marine Corps prior to leaving the service in May.

Christmas Band Concert at GCHS

The Granite City High School Band will present its first concert of the year on Thursday, Dec. 7, at 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.
 Under the direction of Louis Meek, assisted by Joseph Overman, the concert will feature Christmas presentations.
 Musical numbers will include the French National De'Jolie by Turlet; Mannheim Venn by Wood; Nutcracker Suite by Tchaikovsky; A Christmas Fantasy by Liszt; the Hallelujah Chorus by Handel; The Toy Shop by Colby with descriptive narration; and A Christmas Melley, including "Frosty the Snowman," "Here Comes Santa Claus," and "Santa Claus is Coming to Town." The final selection will be Boston Commandery by Carter.
 Tickets for the concert may be purchased at the door for 75 cents for adults and 35 cents for young people between the ages of 12 and 18. Youngsters under 12 years accompanied by their parents will be required to pay 10 cents.
 Future concerts will be held Feb. 1, March 1 and April 5.

The Rev. Hershel Smith of San Bernadino, Calif., a former self-professed warlock, will speak on the evils of Satanism at 7 p.m. Sunday at Tri-City Park Tabernacle, 2501 Clark Ave., the Rev. John Polizzi, pastor of the church, said this week.

He said Smith also will display his "Witchmobile" which he said contains instruments of Satan such as graveyard dust from the graves of unbaptized infants, double-fast lucky spray in an aerosol can, a human skull, a preserved bat and herbs used for incantations.

He has predicted that more harm will be done in this country in the next five years by Satanism than has been done in the last 10 years by drugs, if something is not done to halt the growing experiment with the occult.

Rev. Smith, who operates a 72-room "witchcraft deliverance center" in his home city, began experimenting with Satanism when he was 13 and became a warlock at age 20. He says that at age 25, he was delivered from Satanism by Christianity.

Assembly Okays Raises for County Officials, May Add To Salaries of Legislators

Illinois legislators, who began a combined regular-special session on Sunday, recessed Tuesday afternoon until Dec. 14 but not until they had aroused much public speculation on the issue of public officials' income.

The General Assembly on Tuesday gave most Illinois county officials permission to raise their salaries $6,000 yearly.

The lawmakers discussed in party caucuses raising their own pay effective with the 1973 session opening in January.

And a bill was introduced in the Senate to give legislators a daily expense account of $32 during periods the Assembly is in session.

These deliberations took attention away, at least temporarily, from outgoing Governor Ogilvie's property tax freeze proposal, which has encountered heavy opposition not from taxpayers but from legislators. Joint hearings on the freeze will begin Monday.

The bills sent to the governor allow $6,000 raises for officials in counties of 60,000 or more population, including Madison County, and $4,000 a year in smaller counties.

The legislators are discussing hiking their own pay from $17,500 annually to $19,500 over two years.

Senate Democrats blocked confirmation of 16 Ogilvie appointments because, they contended, Governor-elect Daniel Walker should do the appointing. Included were state parole, pollution, racing and scholarship board posts.

Asteroids Not Serious Threat to Space Flight

By FRANK MACOMBER
Military-Aerospace Writer
Copley News Service

Space travel is a risky business for man and the craft he whirling around the moon or soaring off toward the earth in the U. S. space program scientists feared radioactivity and the asteroids that speed around above the world's atmosphere were a threat to the safety of either manned or unmanned craft that ventured into that mysterious black void.

Now at last, with the record-smashing flight of Jupiter-bound Pioneer 10, these fears have been put to rest.

First, after discovery of the Van Allen radiation belts circling the earth, space scientists warned that vehicles passing through them might be damaged or disabled, their propulsion systems put out of commission. There was concern for the Apollo astronauts as they prepared in the mid-1960s to launch the great adventure to the moon.

Radiation in Space
But, it developed, radiation in space created no special problems for spacecraft or the men who fly them.

Now, Pioneer 10 has shown there is little likelihood that spacecraft or astronauts will be projectile-like asteroid particles that zip through space after breaking loose from planets.

The 570-pound Pioneer 10, now well beyond the midpoint of the Asteroid Belt, has run afoul of no serious hazards from asteroids. Scientists at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center, Mountain View, Calif., are convinced now that these cosmic particles, traveling at speeds of up to 34,000 miles an hour, are not likely to penetrate spacecraft.

Pioneer 10 is less than 270 million miles from the sun and nearly halfway on its trip to Jupiter, largest of the planets. It is the first to fly beyond the orbit of Mars, the first to penetrate the doughnut-shaped Asteroid Belt, the first designed to make close observation of outer planets and the first destined ultimately to escape the solar system into interstellar space.

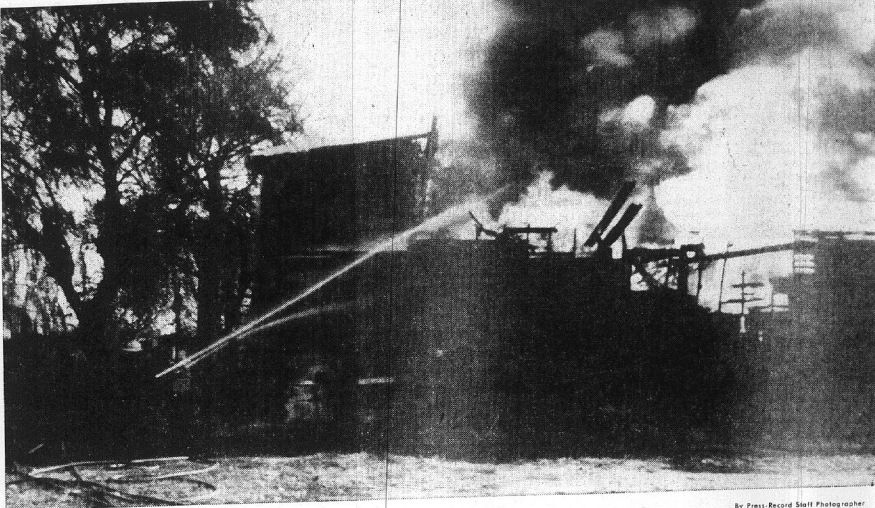

Fly By Jupiter
Launched last March 2, Pioneer 10 entered the Asteroid Belt region in mid-July and is expected to emerge in February. It is scheduled to fly by Jupiter in December, 1973.

The Asteroid Belt occupies a region circling the sun between the orbits of Mars and Jupiter. It's about 1 million miles across and 50 million miles thick. The projectiles in the belt are believed to range in size from dust particles to rock chunks as big as the state of Montana, orbiting the sun at speeds of about 45,000 m.p.h.

But space is so infinite that the chances of a spacecraft collision with one of these are one in many billions.

Pioneer 10 is equipped to observe and measure objects from tiny dust particles to house-size projectiles. Its telescopic lenses can pick up objects as small as a ping-pong ball as far away as six-tenths of a mile.

Improved Phone Systems Authorized for Schools

An improved telephone communications system for Granite City High School and Coolidge Junior High School was approved by the Granite City Board of Education at a meeting Wednesday night.

A switchboard to be operated at the high school will serve both schools with eight outside lines and would handle only incoming calls.

In addition, it will provide a direct inter-communications system within each school with 30 extensions for the high school and 15 for Coolidge and can be expanded to a total of 60 stations.

The current monthly cost for phone service to both schools is $381 and will increase by $217 a month or $2,603 per year.

In other business the board accepted the resignation of Frances Lambert, primary teacher at Lake School, for reasons of health, effective Monday.

Grantee extensions of leaves of absence to Cheryl Gann, a teacher at Johnson School, until Jan. 22, and Ruth Bunch, a teacher-aide, until Jan. 31.

Approved the selection by students of the team name and colors of Granite City High School North—the Steelers and black and gray.

Authorized presentation of a children's play, "The Prince and the Pauper," on Jan. 10 at Emerson School by the Rob-in Hood Players of Chicago. It also was approved for schools at other elementary schools in the district.

Grant requests

Granted requests for use of school facilities by the Christmas party from 2 to 4 p.m., Dec. 16 at the Naomoki gym; Emmanuel Baptist Church for basketball of Dec. 7, Jan. 4, Feb. 1, March 1, April 5 and May 3 at the Mitchell gym; Sharon Young, baton instructor, for a state-wide contest in late January or early February at Grishby School; and Girl Scouts for a Festival of Giving from 2 to 3 p.m. and 7 to 8:30 Dec. 3 at Naomoki School.

Approved a trip by James Dumont and Gilbert Walmsley to the National Association of Secondary School Principals meeting Feb. 27 in Dallas, Tex. Authorized Mrs. Paul Schuler to place March of Dimes envelopes in the schools for fund raising purposes from Jan. 16-18.

Accepted a gift from the Naomoki Women's Club to Johnson School of about 21 photographs of astronauts and the Apollo missions, and from Girl Scout Troop 492 of a "lind climber," an apparatus used in physical education to teach coordination skills, to special education classes.

Was informed that the district's off-campus program of operating room technicians at St. Elizabeth Hospital has been given full approval from the Association of Operating Room Nurses Inc.

Received a report that high school students in St. Elizabeth Hospital health programs are progressing without major problems.

Consumer and Money Management Training for High School Pupils

Capley News Service
Springfield—See Dick. See Dick running to the credit union.
See Jane. See Jane contributing to "middle-class maintenance."

It isn't quite that simple, but money management, nutrition and other everyday decisions affecting the wage earner and the consumer are part of courses now required in all Illinois high schools.

How, the schools teach the required consumer education courses is left up to individual school districts. As a result, one student's "consumer education" course is somebody else's "family living" program.

By legislation passed in 1967, every student at some time between the eighth and twelfth grades must have a minimum of nine weeks of instruction, including 45 periods of 50 minutes each, investigating installment purchasing, budgeting and comparison of public instruction, outlining goals for the courses and suggestions on how to achieve them.

Under this revised program, schools ideally will cover such areas as the individual consumer in the marketplace, money management, consumer credit, buying goods and services, insurance, savings and investments, taxes and the consumer in society.

When they teach the subjects in also at the school district's discretion. The guidelines point out that the eleventh and twelfth grades might be most appropriate, because most students are more mature by that time.

However, in some schools, where many students do not finish all twelve grades, the courses might better be taught in the eighth, ninth or tenth grades, the guidelines suggest. Considerable leeway is allowed.

The subjects can be taught by films, study of printed material, class projects or guest speakers.

The attorney general's office, for instance, and various banking and insurance organizations regularly make available speakers to cover their particular interest where consumers and their best interests are involved.

In the "buying goods and services" category, individual attention is focused on housing, food, transportation, clothing, health services, and cosmetics, recreation and furnishings and appliances.

Though spokesmen in some consumer-oriented state agencies have objected that consumer education requirements are being glossed over in many schools, the state superintendent's office maintains that schools have been enthusiastic in carrying out the requirements, whether they inaugurate a separate course, include the material in appropriate existing courses, or even spread it out over the entire school program, with a little consumer education in each and every course.

It may not wear Dick and Jane away from sugared cereals and soft drinks. But if they pay attention, they may at least learn how much they should pay for the vitamins they must buy to make up for the food values they aren't getting.

U. S. Documents Deemed As Gold Mine by Many

By KENNETH J. RABBE
Copley News Service

An increasing number of parents, pupils and schoolmen are tapping one of the richest resources in the country for inexpensive materials on almost any subject.

Prices range from a nickel for brochures on drug abuse to $8 for the 26-volume Warren Commission report on President Kennedy's assassination. Most are modestly priced at 50¢, above actual printing costs for handling and other expenses.

A gold mine of pamphlets, periodicals, posters, pictures and charts is available from the U. S. Superintendent of Documents by mail or at one of 18 government book stores, including 14 outside Washington.

write for the slew of pamphlets and books on how to care for young children and how to help teenagers.

Place for Honeycombs

One man asked for the best place to honeycomb. The most popular publication is "Infant Care," with more than 15 million copies of the 20-cent pamphlet sold. Next on Uncle Sam's best seller list is the 75-cent pamphlet, "Your Federal Income Tax," "U.S. Government Organization Manual," at $3, explaining who does what and where in the federal bureaucracy, ends the list of 20 publications selling more than a million copies.

The GPO has been in existence for 77 years as publisher for the plethora of government departments, agencies and commissions which originate the material. Citizens get the result of the government's research and knowledge in every field of human endeavor when they buy GPO materials that include a plastic litter bag.

Last fiscal year, the GPO sold 80 million publications for $22.5 million. Although it is not in business to make a profit, the GPO manages to return money to the Treasury. Uncle Sam got a rebate of about $10 million in fiscal 1972.

Plan More Stores

Five years ago, the GPO decided to expand outside the nation's capital and since 1967 has opened 14 bookstores throughout the nation, each stocking nearly 2,000 items. Additional stores are planned for Cleveland, Seattle, Houston, Pittsburgh and Jacksonville. The GPO also established a distribution center in Philadelphia and another in Pueblo, Colo., allowing the Washington headquarters to handle hard-to-locate items. It takes a week to 10 days to receive most publications by mail.

A sampling from Uncle Sam's cornucopia includes American history study guides; information for non-citizens seeking naturalization; Spanish-language materials; monthly magazines about the space program, the armed services, education, foreign affairs and hints for consumers.

A twice-monthly list of 120 items, "Selected U. S. Government Publications," and catalog-like price lists on 47 subjects are available free by writing the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. A monthly catalog of everything published by the GPO, including material not generally available for public distribution, costs $7 a year. The superintendent's office also will provide speakers and displays to schools, PTAs, civic and social groups and to conventions that provide space.

One of the few items yet to be published, however, is how to build and operate a school. But if you'd like a copy of "Katy's Coloring Book" for an elementary school child; material on physical fitness; how to enjoy retirement; weather reports and maps; sport fishing or "Star" Elementary Process for Regenerating Acid from Spent Pickle Liquor," write Uncle Sam's publisher.

Use of Laser As Weapon Unsound,
Pentagon Says

By L. EDGER PRINA
Copley News Service

Washington—The Pentagon's top scientist calls lasers "fascinating and absolutely incredible," but says the United States still hasn't been able to make a cost-effective weapon out of them.

Dr. John S. Foster Jr., director of defense research and engineering, conceded that a power source could be produced which would allow laser beams to "saw off the wings of airplanes," but added:

"We haven't found anything in the way of a high-powered laser to the extent we can demonstrate a feasibility to replace conventional ways of doing things."

"However, we have, as you know, decided we can replace the old way of bombing through the use of lasers."

The latter was a reference to the so-called "smart" bombs which are guided with great precision to the target by a laser beam focused on it.

These laser bombs have had phenomenal success in combat in Vietnam.

196,000 Miles a Second

Laser means "light amplification by stimulated emission or radiation." Lasers that are sharply focused, pencil-thin beams of contrived light that move at the speed of light—196,000 miles a second.

Foster said the laser-guided weapons are "10 times more (cost) effective" than conventional bombs.

"They are 100 times better, but they cost 10 times as much," he explained.

The No. 3 Pentagon official said that shortly after he came to the Defense Department in the mid-1960s, "we tried two major efforts" with lasers.

One was to attempt to use lasers as information tools and to designate a target on the ground for aircraft.

The other was to see whether "we could make a weapon out of it" (laser).

Foster said he was not at liberty to say much about the weapons effort, asserting that it involved "very classified information."

"We do continue to have both efforts," he said.

Use in Defense?

He acknowledged that lasers had been suggested for use in defending against enemy ballistic missiles, but he indicated a lack of enthusiasm for the idea.

"An incoming warhead would be well armored so it is not likely to be vulnerable to lasers," he said.

The Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency has been spending increasing sums of money on lasers but, as Foster pointed out, the program is enveloped in secrecy.

One new avenue that is being explored is the use of a chemical source of energy for the light beams. Other sources are electricity and hot gas.

According to Dr. Stephen J. Lukasik, ARPA director, "The gas dynamic technology is here and the military services are now heavily involved in this area."

Some Air Force officers believe the laser offers a promising new weapons system for its B-1 advanced manned strategic bomber. The B-1, if approved for production, would be ready by about 1979.

Driver Charged With Unlawful Weapon Use

Conrad E. Gardner, 18, of 103 Allen St., Eagles Park Acres, was charged with unlawful use of a weapon after Granite City police stopped his auto in the 2200 block of Madison Avenue at 2:45 p.m. yesterday. Police said they found a pistol wedged in the back seat.

Two Madison men and a 13-year-old Madison boy in the car were arrested by police in a burglary investigation. The juvenile was taken to the Madison County Juvenile Detention Home. The two men were released without charge pending further investigation.

Madison County sheriff's deputies said the boy and the two Madison men may have been involved in the theft of three guns from the home of Gerald Pritchard, 4888 Warnock Ave., which was reported at 1:20 a.m. yesterday. Investigators believe the guns were sold at a service station south of Madison.

Cub Pack 18 Has Pinewood Derby

Approximately 40 persons attended the running of the Pinewood Derby of Cub Pack 18 at Sacred Heart School during the weekend.

Louis Reznack, cubmaster, presided over the event, assisted by Herb Zabel, Van Puryear, Cliff Jones and Art Ritz.

A feature of the program was elimination of the human element in naming the winners due to use of an electronic finish line designed by Ritz, which was accurate to within two thousandths of a second.

Trophies were awarded to Glenn Zabel, first; Wayne Zabel, second, and Doug Jones, third. Plaques were presented to Leonard Ritz for the most unusual car; Glenn Zabel for the best finish on his car, and Doug Jones for best design.

Blue ribbons were given to all the winners and to Bobby Goode, LeRoy Hibbs, Joe McGowan, Jeff Puryear, Mike Antoff, Steve Resnack and Steven Dellamano.

Den 2 presented the opening ceremony with a short recitation on the meaning of "America" and the "Pledge of Allegiance." Mrs. Rose Jones is Den Mother of Den 2, with LeRoy Hibbs as denner.

Den 1 sang a song appropriate to the Pinewood Derby program. Mrs. Kathy Ritz is Den Mother of Den 2, with Mrs. Betty Zabel assisting and Leonard Ritz as denner.

Members of Cub Pack 18 will undertake the giving of a good will basket as its Christmas project.

Flower Show

At McKendree

District V Garden Clubs of Illinois Inc., will present to the public its 19th annual flower show, entitled "Its Beginning to Look Like Christmas," Saturday in Eisenhower Hall at McKendree College, Lebanon, from 2 to 8 p.m.

Mrs. B. J. Isselhardt of Edwardsville, district director, Mrs. Henry Heberer of Mascoutah, general chairman and Mrs. William Klotz, Belleville, co-chairman, are in charge of the show.

Assisting will be Mrs. Earl Glenn, District V horticulture chairman, and Mrs. Charles Kohl, chairman of Garden Clubs and chairs, both of Granite City.

Clubs from Belleville, Cahokia, Collinsville, Edwardsville, East St. Louis, Granite City, Lebanon, Mascoutah and O'Fallon will be represented in the event, Mrs. Heberer reported.

Mrs. Hutton Is

Chapter Honoree

Mrs. John Hutton, who was married Nov. 10, was presented a wedding gift by members of Chapter KU of the PEO Sisterhood at a meeting of the group Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Ray Schaler, 404 Stearns Ave.

Mrs. William Burcky, president, was in charge of the business session, and Mrs. Hutton gave the program on "Nature."

Plans were made for the annual Christmas party to take place Dec. 12 at the home of Mrs. Jim Rossnagel, 26 Glenwood Drive, Glen Carbon. The hostess served a dessert course to 16 members.

JAMES COSTELLO'S HOST

PRE-WEDDING DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. James T. Costello, 1600 Clark Ave., entertained during the weekend at a rehearsal dinner party, preceding the marriage of their son, Joseph Costello, and the former Miss Jaimee Louis, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Louis, 2355 Pontoon Road.

Members of the wedding party and their immediate families were among the 46 guests attending the affair at Charlie's Restaurant.

The out-of-town guest list included Miss Mary Beth Hagle of Springfield, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis and daughters, Lisa and Tracy, of Little Rock, Ark. Mr. and Mrs. John McKinley of Forest Park, Ill., Robert L. Costello of Greenville, N. C., Dr. and Mrs. Robert Cruse and daughter, Jennifer, of Fort Worth, Tex., Dr. Robert Leslie of Grand Island, Neb., and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Dames of St. Louis.

Mrs. Dames provided vocal selections during the wedding ceremony at First United Presbyterian Church.

Luncheon Party For Past Grads

Mrs. V. Kassabaum entertained the Past Noble Grand Club of Ann Rutledge Rebekah Lodge 47 at a noon luncheon Tuesday in her home.

Mrs. Caroline Brockman, president, conducted a short business session and the remainder of the time was spent at games. Those excelling and receiving awards were Mrs. Vera Schilling, Mrs. Helen Love and Mrs. Karmyn Edmonds, a guest.

Also present were Mrs. Irene Hendricks, Mrs. Edna McKay and Mrs. Marvel Clover at whose home the next party will take place Dec. 26.

Shotgun Blasts Fired At Tavern, Three Hurt

Two shotgun blasts were fired through windows of Myrtle's Tavern, 20th Street and Washington Avenue, within a short interval of time last night, injuring three persons.

In the second blast, reported at 8:15 p.m., John Kibbons, who was tending bar, was struck in the face, neck, chest, left shoulder, arm and hand and was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital. The shot went through the front window.

The first shot, reported at 7:40 p.m., went through a side window at the end of the bar and two patrons, Becky Richardson and Bobby Madewell, whose addresses were listed as 5101 Rapp Road, sustained bruises. The shot went through the screen, window and drapes and hit the ceiling.

Police ordered the tavern closed for the night.

26TH-MADISON ACCIDENT

Nurse Aid Class Opens Enrollment at Venice

A new class to train nurse aides will start Monday at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center, S. 4th Street, Venice, K. Duane Rankin, administrator, said today.

Enrollment in the 12-week course is open to Quad-City residents with prospective students invited to call 876-7792 for further information and registration.

The instruction program will include practical experience in hospitals and nursing homes, classroom work and field trips to area health care facilities. Graduates of the course will meet the necessary requirements to obtain an American Red Cross home nursing certificate, Rankin said.

SIXTH HOUR MIXED CHORUS members, who will appear in tonight's first Christmas concert at Granite City High School under the direction of Mrs. Laura Danes, vocal music instructor. The pianist in foreground is Brent Weiss. Sacred and secular music will be featured also by the Sophomore Mixed Chorus and the Girls' Glee Club, starting at 8 o'clock in the high school cafeteria. The public is invited, admission free.

Niedringhaus PTA Unit To Hold 'Flea Market'

The November general business meeting was held by the Niedringhaus PTA Tuesday night. Boy Scout Troop 12, led by Joe Vizer, opened the meeting by presenting the colors and leading the PTA unit in the pledge of allegiance. Invocation was by the Rev. Brinker of Grace Baptist Church.

Top representation awards were won by Mrs. Constance Kraus and Mrs. Gwen Berry's rooms. President Crane announced the Salvation Army has requested donations of canned goods to fill Christmas baskets for needy families in this area.

Several boxes have been placed in the school halls for such donations.

PTA membership participation awards were presented to Mrs. Laurie Reiske (70%) and Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards (68%) by Crane.

Miss Robin Clonko, a Niedringhaus sixth grader, was presented a poster contest award at the fall conference, it was noted.

Niedringhaus will offer sweat-shirts as a fund project this year, Crane announced. Helen Powell said the deadline on shirt orders will be Dec. 22. Both children and adult sizes are available, and the cost is $3.50. Delivery will be in the latter part of January.

Niedringhaus PTA will hold a flea market Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the school cafeteria. Hot dogs, cake, coffee and soda will be sold and a cake walk is planned. Christmas tags and cards in packs will be sold.

Those wishing to donate items for the flea market are to take them to the school Friday before and after school hours. Donated items are to be priced help alleviate the drug abuse problem, people must first understand it.

"Parents need to equip themselves with information on the subject but, more importantly, they have to be a parent and not just a buddy to the child. Good parental example and a definition of restrictions are a must."

Refreschments were served by fifth and sixth grade room mothers.

before delivery is made to the school.

Speaker at the PTA meeting was Gerald Brown, principal of Central Junior High, who spoke on "Drugs—Do You Know All You Need To Know?" Brown said that in order to

'Festival of Giving' Set Sunday

The first in a series of "Festivals of Giving," scheduled next week by Brownies and Girl Scouts will be held Sunday from 2 to 3:30 p.m. at Nameoki School for all scouts in Neighborhood Five.

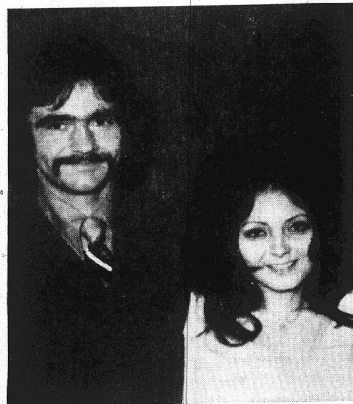

Scouts of more than 20 troops are expected to attend to prepare Christmas baskets and boxes for which the scouts have been making Yule decorations during the past several weeks.

Neighborhood Four, which also had planned to conduct its giving festival at the same location Sunday, has cancelled its program, according to Carolyn Votow, Neighborhood chairman.

Neighborhood One plans to meet from 1 to 3 p.m. Tuesday at the Lee Park Recreation Center in Venice. Entertainment will be provided.

Other giving festivals are planned by Neighborhood Two on Saturday, Dec. 9, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the First Assembly of God Church, and by Neighborhood Three from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 10, at St. John's United Church of Christ.

MR. AND MRS. RANDY MILLER, who were married in Chattanooga, Tenn. They were honored here at a buffet held in the Elks Lodge rathskeller. The bride is the former Sheila Bolus, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lawry of Chattanooga, formerly of Granite City. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Miller, 13 Shirwin Drive.

Newlyweds Honored at Reception

A reception (and buffet) was held during the weekend in the rathskeller of the Granite City Elks Lodge honoring Mr. and Mrs. Randy Miller of Chattanooga, Tenn., who were married in that city on Oct. 2.

The bride is the former Miss Sheila Bolus, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lawry of Chattanooga. The family formerly resided on Kathy Drive.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Miller, 13 Shirwin Drive.

Approximately 175 relatives and friends attended the post-wedding affair Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller are graduates of Granite City High School. Both are employed in Chattanooga, where they are making their home.

Shower Honors Marie Boyle

Miss Marie Boyle was honored at a bridal shower held this week at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church. Decorations were in ruby, pink and white, the colors to be worn by the wedding party.

The bride-to-be is a student at Loyola University School of Nursing, Chicago. She will become the bride of Thomas Powers of Evanston, Ill.

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Janis Brigg, sister of the honoree, and her aunts, Loretta Kerkovich, Pat Elmore and Jean Elmore.

Miss Boyle was assisted in opening her gifts by Mrs. Brigg, Mrs. Cindy Martin and Miss Janet Webb. Games filled the remainder of the time and prizes were awarded.

A large basket arranged with pink wedding bells and net, centered with a miniature bride doll, adorned the gift table. Crystal candleholders with ruby and pink tapers, together with a matching crystal punch bowl and a decorated cake were used on the refreshment table.

A dessert course was served by the hostesses to Mrs. Arthur Boyle, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Mamie Elmore, and Mrs. Gertrude Boyle, grandmothers of the honoree.

Others attending were Olivia Karlovic and Bernice Guenneviz, Staunton; Gertrude Perry, Margaret Vier, Pat Conreux, Leona Henry, Barbara Henry and Donna Perry, all of Glen Carbon; Mae Turner, Dorothy Stack, Mary Hanks, Helen Vieth, Mildred Halbe and Frieda Vieth, all of Edwardsville.

Mary Noeth, Mabel Heid, Barbara Bishop, Beverly Linze, Marie Perry, Valerie Holden, Thelma Judy, Mary MacKinnon, Janet Webb, Ann Meyers, Mary Kerkovich, Gloria Petri, Cindy Martin, Mary Niescius, Janice Hultstein, all of Granite City; Geraldine Guenneviz of Alton; Marie Stack of Marine; and Julia Kula of East Alton.

The wedding of the young couple will take place Dec. 29 at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

Cub Pack 96 held its annual "Pinewood Derby" contest Monday evening at Maryville School, with Roy Loyer and Bill Bush presiding over the activity.

Top winners in the racing derby were Richie Renaud, first place; Jerry Modrusic, second; and Jerry Miller, third. Den 2 cubs, led by Mrs. Pauline Perkins, conducted the opening flag ceremonies. John Doroghazi was introduced as a special guest and an awards program followed.

Cub Scouts receiving service pins and badges included: Bill Bush, Frank Delozier, Tony Eastep and Jeff Nash, one-year pins; John Nash, two-year pin; Kevin Perkins, a recruiter's badge; Mark Barton, Robert Fuller, Wayne Hubbard, Bryan Murphy and John Obenhaus. Bobcat awards: Bruce Abbott, gold and silver arrow; Kevin Perkins, silver arrow; Jeff Nash and Monty Stagner, wolf badges; Kenny Hellrung, denner award; John Nash, assistant denner award; and Mike Hubbard, den chief's award.

The parents' attendance trophy was presented to Den 3, led by Mrs. Millie Johnson, and the closing ceremony was performed by Den 6, under the direction of Mrs. Glenna Shup.

MEDICAL AUXILIARY TO MEET AT ALTON HOME
Mrs. Julius Katz, 1212 Rock Springs Terrace, Alton, will entertain the Madison County Medical Society Women's Auxiliary for its Christmas luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Monday in her home.

Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Jose Pineda and Mrs. Gabriel Halama, both of Granite City. Mrs. Richard Worcester of Alton and Mrs. Edward Cornell of Godfrey.

All members are being urged to attend the pre-holiday event, Mrs. Pineda said.

AC8 PINOCCHIO CLUB MEETS AT KRUGER HOME
AC8 Pinocchio Club members met in the home of Mrs. Sue Kruger, 1707 Sycamore Ave., Tuesday evening.

Exciting at games were Mrs. Pauline Stephens, Mrs. Carrie Hart, Mrs. Ruby Hornberger and Mrs. Lucille Broyles.

Others participating were Mrs. Mary Kester, Mrs. Elvira Thurber and Mrs. Lillian Naeve. Mrs. Broyles and Mrs. Kester were guest players.

The hostess served refreshments and plans were made for a Christmas party, to be held at Charlie's Restaurant, Dec. 26.

City Drainage Action Essential for New Jobs, Boost in Revenue—and a Timely Act of Confidence in Our Future

Granite City's confidence in sound City Hall action is being severely tested. The issue is whether anyone cares enough about economic growth to help provide stormwater drainage access for the Schuck-Carp's commercial center proposed for Nameki and Pontoon Roads.

As outlined by Attorney Maurice Dailey at the Nov. 20 City Council meeting, Golden & Co. of Kansas City is seeking to develop the 143,000 square-foot shopping center and faces the task of linking it with the Nameki area drainage ditch.

Although the developer will encounter substantial other costs in providing the new store facilities, Golden is willing to pay half the estimated $150,000 cost of making the drainage connection; it asks the city to pay the other $75,000.

Golden would advance the entire amount, with later reimbursement by the municipality when it is convenient to do so.

The project involves installing a 48-inch-diameter concrete line or 54-inch corrugated metal pipe along Amos Avenue to connect the Nameki Road site with the storm ditch.

The case for affirmative Council action includes the following points:

1. The city has an obligation to foster adequate drainage as new impervious areas are created.

2. From a practical standpoint, the $75,000 city investment would be made up many times over by the estimated $80,000-a-year sales tax revenue generated by the shopping center.

3. The city has diverted a 21-inch storm line serving the Briarcliff, Melrose and Braden areas, in order to serve some of the present Amos Road shopping areas. By helping install the new 48-inch line, the city in effect can restore the benefits of the 21-inch line to the residential area originally served and now plagued by drainage inadequacies.

4. If a drainage link is ordered by the Council, it also will block development of a wide surrounding area to the west and north, dooming much of this community's brightest prospects for orderly development and a balanced economy.

5. By taking a positive stand for progress and new job opportunities, City Hall could stimulate major flow for the very time that the city is being beset by uncertainties and setbacks from other sources.

On the Nov. 20 presentation to the Council, it was asserted that "the entire future of Granite City is at stake."

There is ample evidence that a real crisis has been reached, and it would be tragic if our city fathers failed to measure up to the challenge. Yet, there was talk at the Nov. 27 session of the plan being "dead," apparently killed by aldermen.

It is certainly not a question of hurting existing stores by helping new ones. Studies have shown that about half of the available local retail business goes elsewhere.

With continuing studies of retail growth in the City of Madison and the Village of Pontoon Beach, with the fine prospects of the Mitchell area, with the plan for Downtown and with the plan for the Schuck-Carp's department store triumvirate along Nameki Road, there is a solid prospect of not only winning the battle of the local trade but attracting throngs of customers to the Quad-Cities from a big surrounding area of Illinois and Missouri.

Only the city's own municipal government clearly are at a turning point. Time is limited. Options are not perpetual.

It will be highly important—and highly informative—to citizens as they watch the drainage agreement being considered or ignored next Monday night.

ing statement makes up the new wording of scout laws, adopted at the 39th convention of the National Girl Scout Council.

If everyone followed such ideals, the nation and world would be transformed into a happier, safer and more productive environment.

Respect Myself and Others Through Words and Actions...

"I will do my best to be honest, to be fair, to help where I am needed, to be cheerful, to be friendly and considerate, to respect authority, to use resources wisely, to protect and improve the world around me and to show respect for myself and others through my words and actions."

This kind of approach could be recommended without hesitation to every American.

But it applies specifically to Girl Scouts. Along with the promise "to be a sister to every Girl Scout," the opening statement makes up the new wording of scout laws, adopted at the 39th convention of the National Girl Scout Council.

If everyone followed such ideals, the nation and world would be transformed into a happier, safer and more productive environment.

Be tolerant with a person who disagrees with you; after all he has a right to his ridiculous opinions.

Tough Decision Looms Ahead on Disposition of Deserters, Draft Evaders

By JAMES CARY

Copley News Service
Washington—The deep and violent divisions spawned by the Vietnam war have left the United States with a vexing problem of what to do about an estimated 30,000 deserters and between 70,000 and 100,000 draft evaders.

Many bills providing for various forms of amnesty have been introduced in Congress and both candidates for the presidency made it a campaign issue of deep and explosive emotional content.

Amnesty, however, is a complex question with no clear-cut historical precedents that would apply in blanket form to the present problem.

Amnesty has been granted in varying degrees after past wars have ended and domestic passions have cooled.

But these amnesties have not been totally benign. Some have been harsh, involving without some form of punishment or compensatory service a condition of some of the bitter young men who fled their country rather than fight in a war they said they felt was immoral.

Mike Hendricks, a draft evader now living in Montreal, said during a March 24, 1972, telephone interview that he "cannot be forgiven for taking morally correct stands against immoral acts of our government."

"And, we do not intend to forget, nor should we ever forget, what forced us into exile..."

"What we would seek—when we are in Indo-China ends—is a totally nonpunitive restoration of our civil liberties..."

Sen. George McGovern, the Democratic presidential nominee, came close to saying he would have given them that.

But even McGovern indicated he felt the individuals involved should volunteer to serve for a time in some form of public service.

President Nixon, on the other hand, has gradually hardened his position.

He stated in a Jan. 2, 1972, television interview that he would be very liberal "with regard to amnesty" when there are no longer any Americans in Vietnam and all prisoners of war have been returned.

But, on Oct. 16, 1972, he said, "It would be the most immoral thing I could think of to give amnesty to draft dodgers and those who deserted..." Those who deserted will pay a price for their choice.

Amnesty comes from the Greek word amnestia, meaning forgetfulness.

It is a general name for amnesty in the past to heal society's wounds after civil strife.

The first known instance of its use was in 403 B.C. by the Athenian general Pericles. Thirty thousand who granted amnesty to all citizens except the deposed tyrants a plague.

An estimated one-third of the colonial population at that time supported Britain and they were dealt with harshly.

They lost their jobs, their property was attacked or confiscated. They were reviled and sometimes physically abused.

Pocketbook Crisis—Cheap Energy May Be on Way Out

Copley News Service

The outline of the "energy crisis" looming in the United States is growing sharper.

We now are seeing that the problem goes beyond developing adequate sources of oil, gas and electrical energy to keep pace with the growing demands of our highly mobile industrial society.

The further question is how we are going to pay the bill to keep it going.

We have built a lifestyle in modern America on the assumption that there will be an abundance of cheap energy.

It is as much the price of gasoline as the price of automobiles that has made it possible for a single family to own and operate two cars or even more.

The ability of American industry to produce an enormous variety of goods within reach of family budgets is also based on plentiful supplies of relatively cheap fuel.

Thus the warnings of higher fuel costs stemming from the "energy crisis" are pertinent both to our personal budgets and to the national economy.

One-fourth of the oil needed to keep our economy functioning is now coming from abroad.

The oil import bill passed $4 billion a year and has no way to go but up, promising to aggravate our international balance of payments problem.

The countries that supply this oil—especially those in the Middle East—are beginning to realize they are entering a seller's market and their price demands reflect it.

We are also facing a shortage in the natural gas supplies once considered to be of almost limitless abundance on our continent.

American firms are hoping to tap gas resources in Siberia, with the prospect of long—and expensive—shipment of gas in liquefied form to the United States.

In developing those oil, gas and coal resources within our own country, we are restrained by concern for the environment.

Ways to tap these resources without harming the environment can probably be found—but with the penalty of higher costs.

Even the promise of clean electrical energy produced by nuclear power and not relying on fossil fuels has fallen under a shadow of dispute over safety and the effect of cooling systems on natural bodies of water.

Here, too, the end result will be an added cost for electricity.

The United States is not alone in facing these problems. Japan and the nations of Europe are caught in the same energy squeeze.

The economies of all the developed countries, to emulate their industrial success, rest alike on the premise that there will be energy enough for all.

The United States has always taken pride in not being a "debtor" nation.

In terms of energy, however, we are consuming more than our own resources are producing.

That means debt—one that will eventually have to be paid in our utility bills, at filling stations and in the price of goods.

Voters Showed Belief in Values of 'Middle Class'

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN

Copley News Service

"We are having a kind of religious war," observed Herman Kahn of the Hudson Institute in September.

"The upper middle class is forcing its religion—call it secular humanism—on the middle class, which is basically nationalistic and fundamentalist."

Here is the hidden reason for the crushing defeat of Sen. George McGovern at the polls on Nov. 7.

The huge lead that President Nixon enjoyed in the public opinion polls so shortly after the Democratic convention in Miami can only be explained in terms of the religious war.

McGovern was very early seen as the representative of the elitist upper class of America, the members of the academic community, the media and what Kahn terms "leaders of a cultural reform movement."

"Think of the period of the 1960s as the era of the religious war," Kahn said before the election.

"Remember that, historically, after the Protestant Reformation, you had the Catholic counter-reformation. That is what we are having today—a middle-class counter-reformation."

"For the time being, it's prevailing. It is erupting all over the place."

This "eruption" was clearly evidenced in the electoral college, where McGovern seemed to convince a sizeable segment of middle-class Americans he was speaking for their interests.

The reason for this failure was that McGovern supported the elitist upper-class values and issues which deeply angered and alarmed average middle-class Americans.

Abortion, amnesty for draft dodgers, Women's Liberation and school busing.

President Nixon, by contrast, built a steady and solid lead over McGovern's case in the polls by emphasizing these beliefs and values which were clearly held by middleclass Americans.

Thus, his crushing defeat of McGovern cannot be explained in political terms. The 1972 election results must be viewed as a revolt of the middle class against the upper-class elitists who helped make a sham of the 1968 Chicago Democratic convention and, between 1968 and 1972, took the party over and nominated a politician deeply alien to average Americans.

McGovern, in effect, was considered by the mass of middle-class voters as the voice of draft card burners, hippies, street riots and campus radicalism.

McGovern from the very beginning made many gross miscalculations.

The most serious was not understanding that middle-class America was sick and frustrated with the cultural "reformation"—as Kahn called it—that condemned just about every value and institution cherished by the majority of the American middle class.

The upper middle class, "observed Kahn in this regard, 'have an unbelievable degree of what I call 'educated incapacity' to understand very simple issues—law and order, busing, gun laws, pornography, sex education in the public schools, the school tax revolt, attitude toward religion and the flag, and attitudes toward Vietnam."

Kahn contends that the upper class spent most of the 1960s attacking such values.

McGovern also did this indirectly during his bid for the White House, when President Nixon very effectively emphasized those issues and values which the middle class felt were being eroded or threatened.

50 Years Ago Beauty Site of Future City Hall

NOVEMBER 30, 1922

The controversy in recent weeks over competing requests from organizations for use of city hall at Niedringhaus Avenue and E Street was temporarily settled when the City Council tabled a proposal of the Epworth League to use them for lawn tennis. An Elks Lodge committee is to beautify the tract, which later is to be used for a city hall building. There will be no cost to the city for the beautification, and the grounds will be used by the public.

25 Years Ago Toy Firm Busy for Holiday Season

NOVEMBER 30, 1947

Although still hampered by a shortage of wood, the Makit-Toy Co. of Granite City has been able to increase its production of wooden construction sets this year and has met most of the demand thus far in the Christmas season. Although the demand for this nationally-known product is greater at this time of year, the kits have become so popular across the nation that the local firm is able to maintain a steady volume of sales throughout the year. Operated by five members of the Benjamin family, the firm is located in buildings at 2000 Illinois Ave. and 1101 Nineteenth St.

Hay in Shoes for Santa's Horses—and Don't Forget Elf's Porridge

Now that the pre-Christmas season is officially here, and December is only hours away, thoughts are turning to the religious and Santa-related aspects of the holiday.

But there also are many other facets of the yearly observance, researchers on the subject report.

Landy ghosts in Italy, elves in Scandinavia and wooden shoes filled with hay in Holland all have one thing in common—they are part of the ways that people celebrate Christmas around the world.

If you were to fly around the world on Christmas Eve, you would see dozens of odd and amusing Christmas sights, ranging from Scandinavian Santas hobbling porridge as the Christmas Eve to the footstep of ever-anxious children to huge candlelit processions.

Christians of all sects will be honoring the birthday of Christ at Bethlehem. An archbishop will lead the traditional procession from Jerusalem to Bethlehem on Dec. 24.

He will carry a statue of the baby Christ, and be flanked by altar boys and singers and preceded by musicians.

In Cologne, High Mass will be celebrated at midnight in Bethlehem's Church of St. Catherine.

Catholics will be granted special permission to enter the Greek Orthodox Church of the Nativity, where the site of Christ's birth is marked by a marble and silver star.

Around the world, countries will be celebrating Christmas in their own ways.

In the United States, the chubby figure of Santa Claus will take to children in hundreds of department stores, promising them that, yes, he will take them with presents carrying the gifts in a huge sleigh drawn by reindeer.

Over in Holland, Saint Nicholas will bring gifts to all good children who leave their wooden shoes on their doorsteps.

There's a catch, though. The shoes must be filled with hay for Sinterklaas' horses.

Tome, an elf, is the Christmas gift-giver in most Scandinavian countries.

Tome must be appeased with a bowl of porridge left on his doorstep. If he likes the porridge and eats it all, he will give many gifts.

Christmas is nearly three weeks long in Latin American countries.

In Mexico, festivities, including many processions, begin on Dec. 16 and continue until Christmas Eve.

If you were to fly to Mexico on Dec. 24, though, you would find a gift-giving. The official date for that is Jan. 6, "Little Christmas" or the Feast of the Epiphany.

Epiphany, according to tradition, is the day that the Three Wise Men visited the Christ Child in Bethlehem.

In Italy, gifts are also distributed Jan. 6 by a mysterious but generous lady spirit called Befana.

A dozen years later, it was sung before Frederick Wilhelm IV, who when he heard it, recognized it for the great contribution it is to the Yule season.

He ordered it to be a part of all of the Christmas state programs for that year.

"Silent Night" will be sung again in 1972—in cathedral and hamlet, home and heart, the world around.

The Eagles provided transportation for village seniors who had no way to get there and the Ponderosa footed the entire bill.

The Ponderosa, too, gave time out of a day off to serve the dinner.

This is the kind of thing that happens all too seldom, and I believe the Eagles and Ponderosa are to be congratulated for giving of their time and talents to the lives of our senior citizens.

Nathaniel Pope Described As This State's Forgotten Founding Father

On Sunday, Dec. 3, the state of Illinois will be 154 years old and Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie has proclaimed Nov. 26-Dec. 3 as Illinois History Week.

When Statehood Day is observed this year, State Historian William K. Alderfer thinks a special tribute should be paid to Nathaniel Pope, a now-almost-forgotten founding father.

Pope was the Illinois Territory's delegate to Congress and, the state historian says, he did more to influence the future history of his state than any other man of his time or possibly any other time.

This he did by writing the generous statehood Enabling Act and then seeing that it was passed by Congress with something like record speed. (It then took about two weeks for a letter from Illinois to reach Washington.)

Pope was appointed territorial secretary in 1809 and established territorial government prior to the arrival of Ninian Edwards, who had been named governor.

He was later elected to the non-voting Congressional post and took his seat on Dec. 2, 1816. Pope spent his first year in Washington learning the ways of Congress, and when the time came he proved that he had learned them well.

The government of the Illinois Territory was administered under the Ordinance of 1787, which also contained provisions for territories to become states.

One of the provisions was that when a state was formed from the Illinois Territory, its northern border should be a line extending from the southern tip of Lake Michigan to the Mississippi River. Pope's greatest contribution to the future state was to have this border moved north for a distance of 60 miles.

He accomplished this in two steps.

His original bill, which he introduced on Jan. 23, 1818, moved the line ten miles to the north.

The other four members of his committee had no objections because Indiana had already been granted a similar extension in her statehood act. Then, when the bill came up on the floor of the House, Pope submitted an amendment that extended the border 50 miles farther — to 42 degrees, 30 minutes north latitude — and again he was successful.

His reasoning was that he wanted the state to include the port of Chicago and the end of a waterway connecting the Great Lakes with the Mississippi River, which was even then being considered.

He also was looking farther ahead to the possibility of a split between the states, which did come 42 years later with the Civil War.

Pope argued that an outlet on the lake would ally Illinois with the other lake states and the Northeast, rather than with the Southern states with which it was connected by the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers.

These border extensions added

8,000 square miles to the size of Illinois, and the area now contains 14 counties and parts of four others.

It has more than 65% of the state's present population and possibly more than 75% of its wealth.

Pope's second important coup was in having the 60,000 population requirement of the Ordinance of 1787 lowered to 40,000. This made statehood possible three or four years sooner than it otherwise would have been; the official 1820 census figure was 55,211.

The territorial legislature had begun a census on April 1, 1818, but by June the count was only 34,620.

The enumeration was continued and when the statehood resolution came before Congress, the count was 40,258. Although there were charges of frauds, such as listing families several times as they moved across the state to settle farther west, and including settlements outside of the state — the figure was never seriously challenged.

Pope's third contribution to the new state involved education.

The precedent had been established of allowing new states 5% of the proceeds from the sale of federal lands for road building. Pope changed this to allot 3% to education and 2% to "roads leading to the state."

One-sixth of this education fund was to be used for a "college or university."

One section from each federal township was to be set aside for education and one entire township was to be earmarked "for the use of a seminary of learning."

As to the roads, Pope thought that Illinois would have to do very little work to have the "finest roads in the world," and the new state wanted immigration made as convenient as possible.

On Dec. 3, 1818, when statehood was established, Pope surrendered his Congressional seat to Illinois' first voting congressman, John McLean.

Pope was appointed to a federal judgeship on March 26, 1819, and filled that position with honor until his death on Jan. 23, 1850, at the age of 66, although he did run several times unsuccessfully for elective office.

State Historian Alderfer points out that, while Nathaniel Pope is almost forgotten today, he was highly respected in his time.

Pope County, on the Ohio River, was named for him when it was formed in 1816 as one of the first ten counties in the state. In 1970, however, it had the smallest population figure of the state's 102 counties — 3,857.

2 Tragedies and 4 Notable Lincoln Dates Are Recalled

Two of the most tragic events in Illinois history took place during November, but the sixth month was particularly noteworthy in the career of Abraham Lincoln. It is being pointed out this week, which is Illinois History Week.

The two major tragedies were the assassination of Elijah Lovejoy by a mob at Alton on Nov. 7, 1837, and the Cherry Mine disaster of Nov. 13, 1909.

Lovejoy, Presbyterian minister, abolitionist and martyr to freedom of the press, came to Alton in 1836 because he thought opposition to his anti-slavery writings would be less in the free state of Illinois than it had been in St. Louis.

He soon found that he was wrong and, after three of his printing presses had been broken and thrown into the Mississippi, he had imported a fourth.

It had been stored in a river-front warehouse and his abolitionist friends, including some of the town's most prominent citizens, were guarding it against the raid that was expected.

The mob came and put up a ladder on the windowless side of the stone building in an attempt to set fire to the wooden roof. Lovejoy was shot when he and several others rushed out to pull the ladder down.

He was buried on Nov. 11, his thirty-fifth birthday. His body was later moved to the Alton Cemetery near where the imposing Lovejoy Monument now stands.

The Cherry Mine disaster in which 29 men died was a deadliest mine accident in Illinois history.

The St. Paul Coal Co. had begun operating the mine at Cherry (in northeast Bureau County) in 1905.

On the Saturday morning of the disaster, 484 men had reported for work but some had left before early afternoon when a fire started.

Six bales of hay were being lowered to the mule stable at the third level, about 485 feet below the surface, when they were ignited — apparently by drippings from a kerosene torch — and in turn set fire to the mine timbers.

Most of the trapped men were on the second level, about 220 feet below the surface. When efforts to put out the fire proved futile, the mine was sealed to smother the flames.

The shaft was opened a week later and 21 men were found still alive; one died soon after being brought out.

The mine was reopened about a year later and was operated until 1927, when it was closed. The first of four notable November dates in the life of Abraham Lincoln was his wedding day, Nov. 4, 1842.

Lincoln and Mary Todd were married in the Springfield residence of Ninian W. Edwards by the Rev. Charles Dresser, the Episcopal minister, who later sold them their home. Mrs. Lincoln and Mrs. Edwards were sisters.

Two more of Lincoln's November events were the Presidential election days of 1860 (Nov. 6) and 1864 (Nov. 8). He spent most of the earlier day in the governor's office at the Old State Capitol in Springfield.

Lincoln's fourth notable November date was Nov. 19, 1863, when he delivered the Gettysburg Address.

He had been invited by Judge David Wills of Gettysburg to dedicate the national cemetery with a "few appropriate remarks."

He returned to Washington suffering from a mild form of smallpox, called "varioid," at which point him under a semi-quarantine for nearly three weeks.

He remarked about it that "none of us have something I can give everybody."

Root Pruning Slows Growth of Trees

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
Root pruning is a method of slowing the growth of trees and shrubs by cutting the roots with a sharp spade.

Some trees and shrubs require persistent pruning to control size. Have you observed that pruning an ornamental tree seems to stimulate the tree and create a bigger problem? Root pruning will slow the growth of any tree or shrub, depending on the amount of roots that are cut-off.

For best results, cut the roots at a point about two-thirds the distance to the buds of branches. Use a sharp spade to cut a ring ten inches deep around the tree or shrub. Be sure to cut every root within the 10" depth.

March or April is the best time to accomplish this management practice. Do not fertilize the tree. This practice works best when combined with modest pruning to remove older wood and lower the proclivity for heavy flowering.

By mid-summer your specimen will generate enough new roots to sustain it through a normal dry season. A reduction of growth and heavy flowering are normal events for three to four years. Occasional heavy watering in an August drought may be necessary.

Deadline Tomorrow for Model Contest Entries

Tomorrow is the deadline for area high school students to register for the Southern Illinois Builders' Association's Model Building Contest.

Entrants are to design and construct a model occupational skills center by March 10. Winners will be announced at an awards ceremony March 24. Awards include 20 scholarships totaling more than $1,500 and students prizes from $50 for first place to $25 for honorable mentions.

Legislation Dealing With Ambulance Service Likely

AUTOS IN ACCIDENT

Autos driven by Sharon K. Brewer, 649 Chouteau Ave., and Randall Lynn, South Roxana, were in an accident early this week at Northtown Rentals on Nameoki Road.

By RAY SERATT
Copley News Service

The 78th General Assembly will convene in January and there are indications that legislation dealing with ambulance services, particularly in the low population areas will be discussed.

Ambulance services, especially in the smaller communities of Illinois, has been the center of concern for officials at various levels of government.

In the past, most of the ambulance services in the smaller communities were handled by various forms of ambulance service. But with increasing costs and demands for service have been made available by local government.

In many areas of the state, the state government for some solution to the fast ending service. One proposal discussed would allow residents of a community or community to vote at a referendum to establish a tax rate to pay for such services.

the ambulance calls will be handled by inmates of the Vienna Correctional Center.

Look to State

But in the main, local governments have been looking toward the state government for some solution to the fast ending service. One proposal discussed would allow residents of a community or community to vote at a referendum to establish a tax rate to pay for such services.

Another proposal calls for the definite establishment of minimum requirements for the operation of an ambulance service. Since the General Assembly will be in session for six months next year, it will have time to take some action.

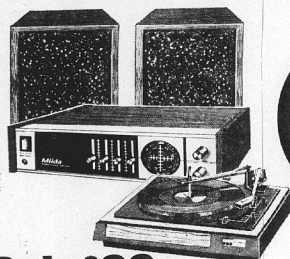

In the past some of the ambulance legislation has been introduced by Rep. C. L. McCormick, R-Vienna. However, as of now there are no definite indications that he will handle similar legislation in the new General Assembly.

However, if no definite action is taken by the General Assembly it will be up to the local communities and local governmental units to decide the way they want to handle ambulance services.

Scott Command Part Of Airlift Exercise

More than 1,300 troops and 1,600 tons of cargo and equipment will be airlifted by C-5 Galaxy and C-141 Starlifter aircraft of the Military Airlift Command beginning this week as part of a joint training exercise called Brave Shield III. The MAC headquarters are at Scott Air Force Base near Belleville.

Galaxy and Starlifter aircraft will fly 88 missions from a total of 14 bases across the continental U.S. during the troop and material deployment. Most of the troops will be members of the 82nd Airborne Division from Fort Bragg, N. C. The major exercise area will be at Hunter Army Airfield, Ga.

The exercise, directed by the U.S. Readiness Command is being held to provide Army and Air Force training in air movement and airdrop of personnel and equipment, management of airspace over the combat zone, air-ground operations and logistics testing and training.

One of the training objectives will be the airlift and use of the Air Transportable Loading Dock (ATLD) for the first time in a joint exercise. The ATLD was designed for use in contingency operations to rapidly offload the C-5 and provide rapid turn-around capability at forward airfields.

MAC will provide redeployment airlift of the forces to their home stations beginning Dec. 8. Two C-5 Galaxy and 81 C-141 missions will be flown during this phase, which ends Dec. 14.

County Officers to Be Sworn In on Friday

Swearing in ceremonies for newly elected Madison County officials will be held at 9:30 a.m. Friday in a circuit court room on the third floor of the County Courthouse at Edwardsville.

The officers are Willard V. Portell, clerk of the circuit court; John L. Kravak, auditor; Nicholas C. Byron, state's attorney; Mrs. Dallas Burke, coroner; and Maryville Mayor Ronald P. Lucas, recorder of deeds.

Presiding will be either Circuit Judges Michael Kinney or Fred Schuman. Refreshments will be served after the program in the offices.

The term of the recorded of deeds will begin tomorrow while the others will begin on Monday. All have filed bonds and taken their oaths. Miss Eulalia Hotz, county clerk, reported.

The new coroner will begin her duties officially at 12:01 a.m. Monday. Her deputy coroners are to be sworn in at 9 a.m. Friday in the office of the county clerk.

Included are Leonard Davis of Davis Funeral Home, Edward Werner and Robert H. Thomas of Mercer Mortuary and Lucy Lucido and Tom Scaturro of Lahey Funeral Home.

Two New Judges to Assume Duties Monday

Victor J. Mosele, Alton attorney, Monday will succeed Chief Circuit Judge Michael Kinney of Wood River on the Madison County bench and Bond County State's Attorney John L. Bellarant will assume the vacancy of the retiring Circuit Court Judge Foss D. Meyer in Greenville.

Both Kinney, 63, and Meyer, 64, are to retire on that day. Their placements were appointed by the Illinois Supreme Court. Kinney served on the bench 24 years and Meyer has been a judge 18 years.

CHAINS TAKEN MONDAY
Chains worth $85 were stolen from the truck of Lewis Brimley, West Port, Ind., while the vehicle was parked at Second and State streets in Madison, it was reported at 10:40 p.m. Monday. The left vent window also was broken in an attempt to enter the truck tab.

Blazing Finish for Man's Moon Missions

By FRANK MACOMBER
Military-Aerospace Writer
Copley News Service

The most dramatic and costly scientific-engineering adventure in man's history will reach the end of the line next month. Apollo 17 will be loaded with "firsts" and "lasts" as three astronauts lift off on the night of Dec. 6 from Cape Kennedy, Fla.

The sixth U.S. mission to the moon — if you don't count the abortive Apollo 13 flight — it will be the first nighttime Apollo launch.

Flames from the huge Saturn V booster will be visible in at least five surrounding states and as far south as Havana, Cuba.

Astronaut Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt, a 37-year-old bachelor, will be the first scientist-geologist to explore the moon and the last American to set foot on the lunar surface during the Apollo program.

Schmitt and Astronaut Eugene A. Cernan, Apollo 17 mission commander, will stay on the moon longer and ride farther in their lunar buggy than any previous astronaut teams, while command module pilot Ronald Evans circles Earth's nearest neighbor.

Cernan and Schmitt will land in a mountain canyon called Taurus-Littrow near the southeastern edge of the Great Sea of Serenity.

It is the easternmost area of the moon to be explored by man.

Cernan says the landing ship must perform a unique behind-the-moon engine firing to reach Taurus-Littrow.

The touchdown site is on a relatively smooth area flanked by mountains reaching from 6,300 to 7,000 feet on each side.

From photos of the region, Schmitt says, the valley floor appears to be covered with an ash-like material that could be 500 million years old — young in geologic terms and more than two billion years newer than the freshest moon rocks yet brought back to earth.

Rocks that apparently have fallen down the nearby mountains, however, the geologist-astronaut adds, could be some of the oldest on the moon, dating back more than four billion years.

The oldest lunar material retrieved by Apollo astronauts so far was four and a quarter billion years old and the youngest about three billion years old.

Schmitt believes Apollo's last hurrah mission has a good chance of finding the oldest and the youngest lunar material man has ever seen, thus adding the first and last chapters to the moon history book.

But Schmitt concedes the story of the moon's birth and development will be far from complete when Apollo 17 returns to earth Dec. 19.

Summing up what he believes the $25 billion Apollo program has achieved, he observed:

"I think there is justified pessimism when you come to seeking the origin of the moon. I think there is no more to go on now than when we started."

"But we are able to say we are on the verge of understanding the evolution of another planet."

"That is unique in the history of mankind, and I think that is the significance of Apollo."

The two-seater moon rover to be carried to the moon by Cernan and Schmitt is scheduled to travel about six miles farther than previous lunar buggies on Apollo 15 and 16.

With an extra 40 pounds of instrumented payload, it is designed for 23 miles of moon travel.

However, because the landing site is hemmed in by high steeply sloped mountains, littered with big rocks and creased on the west by a major moonquake fault, the going may be rough.

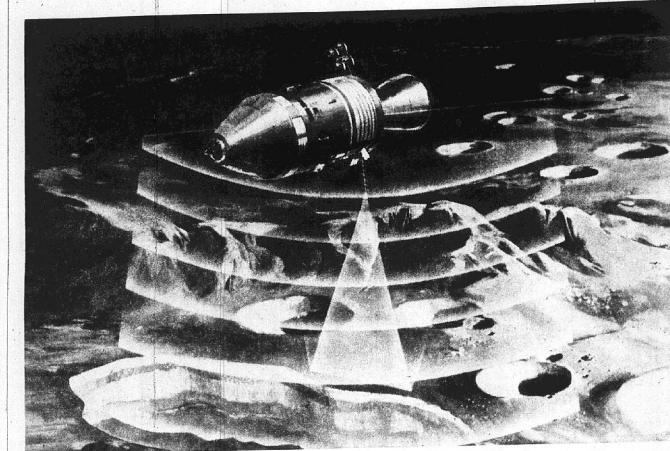

Schmitt's expertise as a geologist is expected to be useful in acquiring a large variety of lunar materials and in spotting especially interesting samples.

His selection for the final Apollo mission was a triumph for the scientific community for all previous moon walkers either have been jet pilots or engineers.

Schmitt was with the U.S. Geological Survey, an interior Department agency, before he was chosen as one of half a dozen scientist-astronauts.

Scientists who have studied Apollo moon samples from previous missions say they will have so much material when Apollo 17 returns that it will take them five to 10 years to analyze it fully.

While the moon appears to be four and sixteenth billion years old, there is an unexplained gap between that point and the oldest rocks that have been found so far.

Apollo explorations have produced three major rock types and proved fairly conclusively that the moon now is a cold and lifeless planet.

The black, cinder-like volcanic material which Schmitt believes overlies part of the Taurus-Littrow region may add a fourth type.

Assuming all goes well, Apollo 17 will lift off Dec. 6 at 9:53 p.m. EST for a mission requiring 12 days, 16 hours and 31 minutes from blastoff to splashdown in the Pacific at 2:24 p.m. EST Dec. 19 about 500 miles southeast of Pago Pago, Samoa.

The longest previous mission was Apollo 15, about 12 days and seven hours, in July and August, 1971.

Apollo 16 lasted almost 11 days and two hours when technical problems cut it short.

Cernan, who piloted the lunar module in its maiden flight test during Apollo 10 as a dress rehearsal for the historic Apollo 11 manned moon landing, and Schmitt will spend three days exploring the moon.

They will ride the lunar rover for seven-hour trips on Dec. 11, 12 and 13.

With the first night liftoff, Apollo 17 will take America's man-to-the-moon program into a blaze of glory expected to attract the largest audiences ever.

The flaming Saturn V moon rocket's red glare will be seen in the night sky over an area three times the size of Texas. Next: Apollo's history has had some stormy chapters.

Mark Brusatti Elevated To Rank of Eagle Scout

Mark Brusatti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Brusatti, 2211 Main Ave., a member of Boy Scout Troop 15 sponsored by the Eagles Lodge, received his Eagle Scout award during a council luncheon held at the lodge.

Charles King, troop committee, served as master of ceremonies. Rollin Henn, Cahokia Mound Council commissioner, gave the Eagle qualifications, and Ted Scrum, Unitah District vice-chairman, gave the Eagle challenge.

Howard Robertson, Brusatti's former scoutmaster, gave the Eagle charge and presented the award.

An awards court of honor was held for other members of the troop. Paul Johnson, scoutmaster, presented first class advancement awards to Jeffrey Hucopian, Charles King Jr. and Marty Temple, and second class advancement award to Paul Woodruff, who received first aid, swimming and nature merit badges.

Trail patches for the Lewis & Clark Pilgrimage also were awarded.

A pot luck dinner was served to troop members, their families and guests after the Rev. Lawrence J. Mattingly presented the invocation. The Mothers Auxiliary of the troop, headed by Mrs. Betty Woodruff, was in charge of the dinner.

George Mathews, Eagle president, and Josie Brown of the lodge presented a gift to the new Eagle Scouts Marty Temple and Steve Ganner, retired the colors and Father Mattingly gave the benediction.

Federal EPA Hearings On Sewage Treatment Set

Public hearings on alleged water pollution rules violations in Granite City, East St. Louis, Sauget and in the East Side Levee and Sanitary District System are scheduled Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 6 and 7, at the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge, Interstate 55-70 and Illinois Highway 197.

The purpose of the hearings is to explain why the U.S. Environmental Protection issued 180-day notices in October to the four governmental units demanding immediate actions to determine what remedial steps can be taken voluntarily by each of the agencies to resolve problems.

If the matters are not resolved within the 180 days, the EPA may call the U.S. Justice Department into the cases for legal action.

The four units are charged with failure to meet the July 31 deadline for disinfection of waste treatment plant effluents (chlorination), and an anticipated failure to meet secondary treatment requirements by Dec. 31, 1973.

The informal public hearings will begin with the Sauget hearing at 9 a.m. Wednesday, followed by the Levee hearing at 1:30 p.m. that day.

The East St. Louis case will be heard at 9 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 7, with the hearing on Granite City treatment act for 1:30 p.m. that day.

'Birthday Party' to Be Presented at Campus
The University Theater at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will present Harold Pinter's "The Birthday Party" at 8:15 p.m. Dec. 5-9 in the Communications Building auditorium. The public is invited, admission free.

Members of the cast include Pat Thomson, O'Fallon, portraying Petyr; Anna Thompson, Granite City, is Meg; Bryan Erdman, Edwardsville, Stanley; Amy Selber, Belleville, Lulu; James Davis, Alton, Goldberg; and Will Shaw, Belleville, Mc-Gann.

Pinter wrote "The Birthday Party" to demonstrate what could happen to six persons if the confines of one room. As the play's series of conflicts unfolds, the audience witnesses the destruction of the security provided by the room.

Peggy Clark, a graduate assistant in speech and theater at SIUE, is directing the play. Tickets may be reserved by calling 692-2775.

Plan Demonstration of Proper Pruning Technique

By WARREN W. BUNDY
U. of I. Extension Adviser

Homeowners who have plantings of tree fruits or small fruits are invited to a pruning demonstration to learn more about how to make pruning cuts, when to prune, treating pruning wounds, and other pruning rules.

The demonstration will be Saturday, Dec. 2 from 10 a.m. to noon at the home of Christ Doll located one-half mile northwest of Edwardsville on Illinois Route 143 to Barton Construction Co., then north one-half mile.

Doll is a horticulturist with the University of Illinois. He will demonstrate proper pruning techniques for apple, peach, cherry and plum trees and small fruits including grapes, blackberries, raspberries and blueberries. He also will answer homeowners' questions about varieties and cultural methods.

Livestock producers and others interested are urged to attend an informational meeting at which the animal waste handling regulations proposed by the Illinois Pollution Control Board will be explained.

The meeting will be Thursday, Dec. 7 at 1 p.m. at the Madison County Farm Bureau building in Edwardsville.

Speaker will be James Frank, agriculture specialist with the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

May Present Testimony
A series of public hearings will be held this winter throughout Illinois on the proposed animal waste handling regulations.

At these hearings everyone will have a chance to present testimony. Their testimony will become part of a written record to be considered by the pollution control board in reaching a decision on the proposed regulations.

The meeting here on Dec. 7 is not a hearing. Its purpose is to help livestock producers and anyone else interested to understand the proposed regulations. Such information will be especially helpful to those who plan to testify at one of the hearings.

At the conclusion of the hearings, the pollution control board will decide whether the regulations should be passed into law in their proposed state, passed as amended, or referred to the Institute of Environmental Quality for more research.

Food production does affect our environment. Changes in methods of handling livestock are among the major changes which have occurred in agriculture.

In the past, animal herds were relatively small and manure was returned to the land where nutrients were used by growing crops and organic matter was incorporated into the soil. This system still is used on most of our farms which produce cattle or hogs in small numbers.

The change to larger farm units and intensive livestock production has decreased the importance of manure as fertilizer, it no longer pays to spread manure because the farmer can more profitably spend his time in other activities.

County Fairs Getting Bigger Every Year

Copley News Service

Springfield—The bride and groom sat in one seat, the officiating minister in another and everybody on the midway came when a couple was married on a ferris wheel during an Illinois county fair this year.

After the vows, the newlyweds took off on their first wedding trip—round and round on the ferris wheel while the bride threw her bouquet from the top.

It doesn't happen every day but it typifies what makes county fairs so much fun. Just about anything can happen.

Usually, does, too. Sharon K. Marsh, the attractive young woman who heads up the state's county fair programs as superintendent of the division of county fairs in the department of agriculture, feels the variety may be part of the reason county fair business is actually increasing year by year.

In Illinois, the first county fair was held in Cole county in 1841. By 1885 Coles county had 2,015 fair entries. In 1972, Coles county attracted 3,192 entries, in a space age when those who've never been charmed by a fair maintain the events are outdated and overdue for retirement.

In the last year, Illinois actually has gained two new county fairs, bringing the total to 103. These, plus 102 4-H shows, 25 vocational agricultural sections which also fall into Mrs. Marsh's division, attracted seven million people last year. The division also includes McCormick Place in Chicago, but that's a long way from a county fair.

No Taxes Involved
None of this, with better than a million dollars spent for entertainment alone, costs Illinois taxpayers anything, since all the money including Mrs. Marsh's salary and that of her seven full-time staffers, comes from pari-mutuel racing in the state.

Aside from the fun, the triumphs, glitters and excitement of a fair in progress, Mrs. Marsh feels they offer something else. "Most projects shown by youngsters are the result of four to five months work," she says.

"While they're getting their projects ready, they aren't getting into trouble for lack of something constructive to do."

"There's probably no better place than a county fair to learn to lose," she adds. Since part of life and learning to do so gracefully is part of growing up, she maintains that those who don't go home with a coveted ribbon still win something valuable—experience.

There is little vandalism at county fairsgrounds. "When you've worked hard, without pay, to fix something up, you aren't going to damage it," she says. What there is, is usually traceable to outside visitors, not participants.

"We just had our first reported incident with dope on a county fair grounds this summer," she adds. The pusher was tracked down, nabbed and held for police by a Midway "carnie."

Attendance Growing
When county fairs first started in Illinois, in the mid-1890's, they each got about $100 aid from the state. Today, only nine counties in Illinois don't have county fairs (including Mrs. Marsh's native Woodford county), and there are 4,717 acres and property valued at better than $12 million involved. Attendance in recent years has been growing at a steady 4% a year.

Since premiums haven't gone up a lot in a century, while costs of producing, transporting, and showing an entry definitely have, Mrs. Marsh is sure people aren't taking part for the profit, though money won and saved has helped many a youngster through college. "It's the glory, the ribbon, the satisfaction of knowing you did it," she feels.

Not to mention getting married on a ferris wheel, maybe or even winning your own personal award, as Mrs. Marsh did this year. After traveling 16,000 miles to visit 61 fairs, one of them gave her the trophy for "best pair of calves, tired heifer division." There's no predicting what may happen at a county fair.

Per Capita Tax Cost $721 in 1970-71 Fiscal

On a per capita basis, citizens of Illinois paid $692.57 each toward the revenues of state and local governments in fiscal year 1970-71, the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois has reported.

When per capita revenue of $118.78, which the federal government spent in Illinois during the same period, is added in, state and local governments had total revenues of $721.35 per Illinois citizen to spend in fiscal 1970-71.

On a per capita basis for this period, taxes were the big producer of revenue, $418.16, or 58% of the total. Property taxes for local governments amounted to $199.54 per person and other taxes (income, sales, liquor, etc.) produced $313.94.

At the same time, did expenditures eat up the per capita revenue total of $721.35? The answer is "pretty close"; expenditures for the same fiscal year totaled $711.16 per capita, or 98.7% of the total.

For fiscal year 1973, Tax Foundation, Inc., allocated $14,033,000,000 as Illinois' share of the burden of the Federal budget, or $124.98 on a per capita basis. While it is not quite fair to add state revenues for fiscal 1970-71 with Federal revenues for fiscal 1973, for what it is worth, Illinois citizens on a per capita basis are shouldered with a tax bill of approximately $1,850.57 at the present time ($802.57 plus $1,048).

Dramatic Progress in Training of Retarded

Copley News Service

Springfield—With the end of Mental Retardation Month approaching, the state department of mental health has released some overall figures reflecting dramatic changes in attitudes in caring for the retarded.

In a little more than a decade, according to department spokesmen, the whole concept of care for the retarded has shifted from passive "warehousing" in huge institutions to active training programs in sheltered facilities, suburban ranch houses and even at home.

In 1969 in Illinois, for instance, there were 59 centers serving 3,800 persons.

This year, there are 107 centers serving 5,000 persons.

Funding for these programs has risen in that time from $1.5 million to $12.7 million. Private facilities have been incorporated into the program, under special purpose-of-care arrangements, so that 1,000 persons who once would have remained indefinitely in state hospitals now can live in more normal, independent surroundings.

As a result of the trend, population figures at state facilities have dropped—from 3,759 in 1969 at Lincoln to 2,263 today, for example, or from 3,850 at Dixon State School in 1969 to 2,589 today.

During the last few years, patient-staff ratio has drastically improved, the department says.

In 1960, there were almost 27 employees in the department for each 100 patients. By 1968, the figure had risen to nearly 60 employees for each 100.

Last year, it rose to 109 employees per 100 patients—a little better than one for each patient.

This year, it will soar to more than 121 employees for each 100 patients.

These drops in institutional population were occurring, more emphasis was being put on establishing community living facilities.

Six new mental retardation residential training centers have been approved for the Chicago area, one opening its doors last month and development of the other five now in progress.

The facility already functioning, the Elizabeth Ludeman Center in Park Forest, is a radical change from traditional concepts of care for the retarded.

The Park Forest facility will house 400 severely and profoundly retarded children in 50 ranch-style homes on dead-end streets in a typical subdivision environment.

Each house will be home for eight residents living two to a bedroom, with their own living, dining, family, utility and mud rooms, and two and a half baths.

All the homes have central air-conditioning, and there is a "neighborhood house" for each 10 residences, for specialized training.

It has been estimated there are 330,000 mentally retarded children and adults in Illinois—roughly 3% of the state's population.

Through training and education, mental health department officials maintain, more than 75% of these can become productive, self-sufficient citizens.

Another 10% to 15% are believed to be capable of becoming partially self-supporting if given appropriate training.

Mental health leaders also maintain that successfully placed retarded persons have been found to return between $7 and $10 in income taxes for each $1 spent to rehabilitate them.

Donald Roth Heads Finance Office Here
Donald A. Roth has been named manager of Public Finance Corporation, 1950 Edison Ave. It was announced by J. P. McGrath, vice-president and executive supervisor of American Investment Co.

The new manager joined AIC in February 1971 at an office in Belleville. At the time of his promotion he was acting manager of the Granite City office.

Roth attended Belleville Junior College.

The Illinois offices are part of a nationwide chain of nearly 800 consumer finance branches which annually make more than 800,000 loans. American Investment, a St. Louis-based diversified finance firm, operates subsidiaries in 39 states.

Services, Open House to Dedicate New Windows at St. Peter Evangelical

St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, 21st and Cleveland Blvd., will hold a joyous service of celebration Sunday morning when 19 new church windows designed by Gabriel Loire of France, will be dedicated. It was announced by the Rev. Robert Kettelhof, pastor.

An open house has been planned that same afternoon from 2 to 4 p.m., with guided tours to interpret the theme of the windows. Refreshments also will be served.

The Rev. Ernest W. Luehrman, chaplain of Deaconess Hospital, St. Louis, will deliver the dedication sermon at the morning worship service. His sermon topic will be "He Has Come To Us," based on the center window located in the narthex of the church.

A native of Lexington, Mo., the guest speaker holds a B.A. degree from Missouri Valley College at Marshall, Mo., and a Bachelor of Divinity degree at Eden Theological Seminary, Webster Groves, Mo.

The Rev. Luehrman is a Fellow in the College of Chaplains of the American Protestant Hospital Association. He has served as chaplain at Deaconess Hospital since 1959 and prior to that served as assistant pastor at Bethany United Church of Christ in St. Louis. He also was the founding pastor of Peace United Church of Christ, Spanish Lake.

The old windows and frames which date back to the early part of the century had gone beyond repair and after interviewing many artists and studying many themes for the windows, the committee, appointed by the church, chose Loire and the theme for the new windows, The United Church of Christ statement of Faith.

The windows were completed in 1972, and shipped through the St. Lawrence Seaway to Chicago where they came by truck to Granite City.

Such praise has become commonplace for Loire, now 65 years old, who has been working with stained glass for over 43 years. His studio is located in the shadows of the Chartres Cathedral in France, Loire's powerful designs have spread around the world.

They now bathe the interiors of nearly 500 French churches with a perpetually changing wash of rich colors and in more than 200 buildings in the United States, Loire windows can be found in all their brilliance.

The windows are a perfectly harmonized construction of glass. Over one inch thick, or five times the thickness of antique glass, it is colored throughout and shaped by chipping the edges.

These rough facets catch the light and add depth and vibrance to the already vivid colors. Too heavy to be held together by soft lead, they are framed instead in cement and reinforced by aluminum frames.

The liquid cement, poured between the thick glass pieces, not only gives strength, but flexibility, and qualities of contrast to enhance the scenes depicted in the glass.

The Window Committee at St. Peter's reviewed watercolor drawings by Loire in consultation with Dr. Allen O. Miller of Eden Seminary in St. Louis who was a member of the committee which in 1959 formulated the statement of Faith for the United Church of Christ.

The windows were completed in 1972, and shipped through the St. Lawrence Seaway to Chicago where they came by truck to Granite City.

Aluminum frames were fabricated in St. Louis by Architectural Bronze and the brick mason's work was done by George Slay Contractor from Gaffney, whose parents were ministers at St. Peter's when the old windows were installed.

All members of the Illinois South Conference churches are invited to attend the open house celebration Sunday or to visit the church for regular worship and share the Statement of Faith depicted in faceted glass.

8 Assumption Students Awarded High Honors

The students at Assumption High School in East St. Louis completed the first quarter with sophomores meriting high honors with at least a 3.50 average. They are: Thomas Prida, Paul Strickland, Victor Barnhart, Richard Asperger, Steven Crowe and John Guterma.

There are also eight sophomores who have made the honor roll with an average of 3.0 or higher. They are: Gregory Birge, James Cox, Ben Davinroy, Anthony Zillen, James Caddell, Matthew Kimball, Stephen Marty and Charles Threlkeld.

Domestic Steel Shipments Rise

Domestic steel shipments rose for the second straight month during September, according to American Iron and Steel Institute.

U. S. producers sent their customers 7,929,000 tons of mill products during the month, a gain from August's total of 7,805,000 tons.

The September 1972 shipment figure is in marked contrast to the same month of last year, when they totaled only 5,222,000 tons. At that time, steel consumers were working down inventories built up earlier in the year in anticipation of a possible nationwide steel strike which never occurred.

Through the first nine months of 1972, domestic steel shipments had reached 67,579,000 tons. During the same period of 1971, they totaled 70,128,000 tons.

Domestic steel industry employment declined slightly during September, but remained well ahead of its comparable 1971 level.

ASIS reported that 486,480 persons were working for steel companies in the United States during this September. A slight drop from the 489,949 persons on industry payrolls during August. However, in September of last year, industry employment totaled only 431,904 persons.

During September 1972, the nation's steelmakers paid out $66,171,000 in wages and salaries to their employees. This raised the total of such payments through the first nine months of this year to $3,316,100,000.

Total employment costs per hour by hourly employees was $7.28 in September 1972, compared with a $6.26 average for 1971. Costs of employee benefits included in the total (pensions, insurance, supplemental unemployment benefits, the non-payroll portion of savings and vacation plan costs and legally required payroll taxes) are partly estimated.

Enough Soybeans to Meet Demand is U.S. Problem

"The biggest problem the American soybean industry faces right now is producing enough soybeans next year to meet the demand," Laure C. Meade, general sales manager, Export Marketing Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, told Illinois soybean producers this month in Chicago.

"The huge world demand for protein feedstuffs is keeping soybeans moving at a record clip," Meade said in addressing the annual meeting of the Land of Lincoln Soybean Association. "Prospects are that demand for soybeans will continue to grow, and that we will be able to sell more beans at good prices."

The Land of Lincoln Soybean Association held its session in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Illinois Agricultural Association in Chicago's Sherman House.

The real boom in soybean demand has come from foreign countries, Meade states, as exports for this marketing year are estimated at a record 500 million bushels, 84 million bushels more than last year. Developing technical assistance programs and trade services with Japan, Taiwan and several European countries has boosted demand.

Better Trade Relations with Russia, China and other Iron Curtain nations will keep demand strong in long-term trades. Foreign market development also has significantly added to overseas soybean success, as U. S. soybean producers have what Meade calls "the soundest and most effective market development programs ever conducted by an agricultural group."

In spite of current strong demand, Meade cautioned there are several factors that would cut into the soybean's market potential "if we force our prospective customers to look hard enough for them." If Americans cannot offer a sufficient supply of soybeans at attractive prices than overseas buyers will encourage soybean growers in other countries, like Brazil, to fill the market demands, or they may turn to other products entirely for protein sources, such as urea.

'Kiss Me, Kate' Musical Saturday in GC

With Cole Porter's unforgettable production number "Another Opus, Another Show," from "Kiss Me, Kate," the Masquers theatrical company premieres its 1972-73 season in Granite City on Saturday evening.

Appearing in the musical's leading roles will be Mrs. Beverly Scroggins of Granite City, Frank Joachimsthaler of Collinsville, Miss Kathy Darrt of Belleville and Larry Lertz of Wood River.

The performance will start at 8:15 p.m. Saturday at the Namook Recreation Center, Amos and Franklin avenues. Tickets still are available from members of the cast or by contacting Mrs. Scroggins at 877-2228.

Since "Kiss Me, Kate" contains scenes from Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew," the roles are double-cast so that most performers play an actor or actress who in turn plays a character in the play-within-a-play. For example, Mrs. Scroggins will be seen in the role of Lilli Vanessi, the actress who performs as Katharine in the "Shrew" scenes.

Award Winner

Beverly is a past president of Masquers and has performed many times with the group, including the role as Lilli in "Carnival" for which she received the Mosquer Award for "Best Performance by an Actress" that season. She also has worked backstage and has directed last season's production of "Cabaret."

Holder of a BFA degree in theatre from SIUE, Beverly WRATH OF A SHREW is aptly demonstrated by Katharine (Beverly Scroggins), at left, as she puts the fair Bianca (Kathy Darrt) in her place in the Masquers production of "Kiss Me, Kate." The updated musical, which takes its theme from Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew," will be staged at 8:15 p.m. Saturday at the Nameoki Recreation Center, Amos and Franklin avenues. Tickets are available by calling 877-2228.

teaches English and speech at Granite City High School, and is active in the Nameoki Presbyterian Church. She is the wife of local attorney, Leon G. Scroggins Sr. and mother of two sons.

Frank Joachimsthaler has participated in Masquers productions since his debut in the role of El Gallo in "The Fantasticks." He has designed and executed the settings for many Masquers' shows and directed a memorable production of "The Sound of Music."

He has been voted a recipient of the coveted Mosquer Award on three occasions, the most recent being for his performance as Willy Loman in "Death of a Salesman" last season.

Joachimsthaler is employed by the National Parks Service as exhibitions and programs director for the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial (the Arch) in St. Louis. He appears as Fred Graham and Petruchio in "Kiss Me, Kate."

Kathy Darrt, a dance student at SIUE, Kathy appeared in "Cabaret" last season as a dancer and the past summer was a member of the SIUE University Theatre Repertory Company, dancing in "Celebration."

Appeared at Mundy Opposite Miss Darrt as Bill Lucenito is Larry Lertz, a dancer and theatre major at SIUE, who brings a wide variety of theatrical experience to his debut performance with Masquers.

Lertz has been a member of the Jenny Wiley Summer Stock Company, and studied with Michael Simms Dance Studios and voice with Kaye Shannahan. He also appeared in the dramatic chorus of the St. Louis Municipal Opera's world premiere stage production of "State Fair."

Other performers include John and Rogers Melford of Granite City who play Hattie Cooper, Karen Earhardt, John Erickson, Gail Joachimsthaler, Jeff Julius, Irene Kunemann, Janice Lewis, Mike Magro, Robin Nunn, Cheryl Pikoriat, Don Sauer and Marelle Zaganelli.

The score of "Kiss Me, Kate" features many familiar songs, such as "Wonderbar," "So in Love," "Always True to You in My Fashion" and "I Hate Men."

"Kiss Me, Kate" has been under the direction of Al Erickson. Susie Riddle was choreographer and Paul Mabrey directed music for the show.

Dancers, Singers Members of the singing and dancing chorus include Jayne Ball, Colleen Carpenter, Lisa Cooper, Karen Earhardt, John Erickson, Gail Joachimsthaler, Jeff Julius, Irene Kunemann, Janice Lewis, Mike Magro, Robin Nunn, Cheryl Pikoriat, Don Sauer and Marelle Zaganelli.

William Wachters Mark Anniversary Pink and white streamers suspended with white wedding bells decorated the DAV Hall on 16th Street during the weekend for a supper dance honoring Mr. and Mrs. William Wachters, 1608 Garfield Ave., on their 25th anniversary.

About 150 relatives and friends of the Wachters attended the affair, hosted by couple's daughters, Miss Lauren and Joan Wachters.

Dancing was enjoyed to the accompaniment of Mrs. Connie Bewick, pianist and vocalist, who sang "Ramona" and the "Anniversary Waltz," and Robin Nunn, a nephew of the bride, who sang "Cabaret" and "Hello Dolly."

The buffet table was centered with an arrangement of white carnations and a three-tier wedding cake. Two other cakes, iced in pink and white, were served, and the table appointments reflected the pink and white color motif.

Mr. and Mrs. Wachters have resided in Granite City since their marriage. The husband is employed as a patternmaker at American Steel Foundries.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ira Nunn of Piedmont, Mo., and Mrs. Carrie Mead and Jim McDaniel, both of Fredericktown, Mo.

Christmas Band Festival Tuesday

The three bands of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will present a Christmas festival at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 5, in the University Center's Meridian Hall. The public is invited, admission free.

The University Band, directed by Herbert Oberlag, will play a Christmas Festival by Leroy Anderson and Iphigenia in Aulis (Overture by C. W. R. von Gluck, orchestrated by R. Wagner and transcribed for band by Irving Cheyette).

The Stage Band, directed by Warren Brown, will play Interlude by Pete Rugolo, with Kevin Kolb, Belleville, as piano soloist; Dance of the Sugar Plum by Tchaikovsky, arranged by Dick Fennor; and England's Carol by John Lewis, arranged by Peter Phillips.

The Symphonic Band, conducted by C. Dale Fierstad, will play the traditional Green sleeves, debussed by Alfred Reed; Four from Three tunes by Debussy, arranged for band by William A. Shafer; Russian Christmas music by Alfred Reed; and Sleight Ride by Anderson.

SIU brasses and Christmas songs will include The Herald Angels Sing, Silent Night and O Come All Ye Faithful.

'Messiah' by Music Groups Handel's Messiah will be presented at 8:15 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 3, in the Edwardsville High School gymnasium by the Community Choral Society and the Concert Chorus, whose director is Leonard Van Camp; the University Chorus, directed by William Clauson; the University Orchestra, directed by Robert Schieber; and the Chamber Orchestra, directed by Kendall.

Soloists will be SIUE voice students of the Community Choral Society.

Softer, More Feminine Designs Predicted

The hey-day of knits isn't over, but the fabrics—flannel, linen, raw silk, chiffon—are the stars of resort fashions and the harbingers of spring, according to a Southern Illinois University fashion specialist.

Thelma Berry, professor in clothing and textiles at SIU, Carbondale, predicts softer, more feminine apparel designs for women, an emphasis on dresses, and fewer "gadgets" such as "clanking hardware" in jewelry and belts.

"There is a hint of waistline, defined by belt, elastic or gathers," she said. "Garments move away from the body, with dolman or raglan sleeves, knemes."

One of the "big" color combinations is natural beige with a bright navy. There are fewer patterned fabrics, although some designers still show "squiggles," she added.

flared skirts, blouse tops. Underarm gussets may be seen to provide freer movement.

Pants are still in the picture but are very voluminous, and are designed with jackets instead of tunic tops, Mrs. Berry explained. They may be cuffed or have plain bottoms, may be creased or not.

Sausagemaking Time at St. John Lutheran

Sausagemaking time is approaching at St. John Lutheran Church, an annual event which requires the energies of the entire church congregation and gains the attention of many Quad-City area residents eager to purchase the homemade sausage.

The sausage will be made Friday, Dec. 8, and offered for sale to the public on Saturday, Dec. 9, at the church, located at St. Clair and Dale avenues.

In next week's project, a total of 2,000 pounds of sausage will be produced, exceeding last fall's production by 500 pounds, according to Mrs. Betty Hackney, one of the organizers of the sausagemaking project.

"Increasing the quantity we plan to make was decided after we ran out of the sausage last year and had to disappoint some patrons," she explained.

The meat—obtainable in garlic flavor or plain—will cost between 90 and 95 cents per pound, Mrs. Hackney said. For the first time the sausage may be purchased in bulk style, as well as the usual casing, she reported.

Mrs. Hackney noted the sale has been very successful over the years with many of the same patrons returning each December to obtain an ample supply of the good homemade sausage.

Advance orders will be accepted by calling 877-3341.

HOLIDAY HOUSE GUESTS AT HAWKINS RESIDENCE

Thanksgiving holiday house guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Hawkins, 22 Riviera Drive, were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gary (Nancy) Buckner of San Diego, Calif.

During the weekend, the family celebrated the 88th birthday of Mrs. Susie Hawkins, mother of the host. Dinner guests included Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Barnhart and children of Granite City, also a son-in-law and daughter of the Hawkins.

Wilson PTA Plans Candy Sale

Reports on a sweatshirt sale held recently and plans for a candy sale to be held in February were presented to a meeting of the Wilson School PTA by Mrs. Audrey Laird, ways and means chairman.

The meeting was opened by President Tom Teitloff and Mrs. Harriet Evans, vice-president, read the PTA prayer. Brownie Troop 910 presented the flag and led the pledge of allegiance.

After Mrs. Donna Schloss, secretary read the minutes, Fred Stille, treasurer, gave his report. Stille also reported the membership count was 173.

Playground equipment was purchased for each classroom as decided by the membership at the previous meeting. Mrs. Cynthia Hornell told the audience about Alpha 1 reading program for the kindergarten class which is used by several other schools in this district.

The proposed budget for the current year was approved by the membership.

After the business meeting, Luc Reid, principal of Frohardt School, explained the new progress report cards and answered questions from the audience.

The mothers of Mrs. Mason's kindergarten classes provided the refreshments which were served by Mrs. Mary Jane Burris and her hospitality committee.

Next month's meeting will be held Tuesday, Dec. 19, at 7 p.m. Mrs. Mary Kay Rogers, music teacher at Wilson School, will present her students in a Christmas Program.

Memorial Service Held by Chapter

Granite Chapter 650, Order of Eastern Star, met during the weekend, with 75 members and guests attending. Services were held in memory of deceased members of 1972.

Visitors from New Hope Chapter 432 and the Collinsville Chapter were present. Among those introduced were Mrs. Pauline Cox, guest of honor, Charles Meador, who was seated in the east and Mrs. Betty Gritz, a surprise guest.

Mrs. Lois Bilbrey sang appropriate music while the guests were escorted.

Fifty-three committees and side liners were honored and presented with gifts from the chapter.

Silver trays, a gift to the chapter from Mrs. Nan DeLoach of Redfield, Ark., a former member, were accepted by Mrs. Rachel Larsen, associate matron and Walter Johnson, associate patron. The presentation was made by the current chapter executives, Mrs. Louise Meador, worthy matron and Cleveland Cox, worthy patron.

A buffet was served in the dining room following the rituals and meeting.

21,000 Visit Light Display at Shrine

Nearly 21,000 people visited the Way of Lights at the Our Lady of the Snows Shrine, Bellefonte, during its first weekend of operation. Elroy Rule, general chairman, said.

The mile-and-a-half Way of Lights depicts scenes of the Christmas story through imaginative use of 125,000 tiny bulbs.

New to the Way of Lights are shepherds tending live sheep and a donkey.

Also new is an animated fountain of lights set against a background of the night sky. Also illuminated is the Way of the Cross and the journey of the Wise Men.

Focal point of the display is the Nativity scene located in a grotto on the Shrine grounds. It features a life-size carving of the Christ Child fashioned from native Bethlehem olive wood.

The Way of Lights is open to the public without admission 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. daily through Dec. 10. Our Lady of the Snows is on Highway 460 near Bellefonte.

A. G. Brammell Dies; Lifelong GC Resident

Arthur George Brammell, 57, a native and lifelong resident of Granite City, died at 11:50 p.m. Tuesday in St. Elizabeth Hospital. He lived at 2211 Cleveland Blvd.

Mr. Brammell had been ill for the past year and was a patient at the hospital one day. Because of ill health, he retired three years ago as a driver for Checker Cab Co.

He was a member of the Word of Light Tabernacle Church.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Alma Louise Brammell, three daughters, Mrs. Dennis (Ethel) McCann and Mrs. Helen Lawn of New York, N. Y., and Mrs. Viola Weller of Lancaster, Pa., and four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Student Humane Group To Sell Bird Seed

Members of the Student Branch of the Quad-City Association for the Protection of Animals at Prather Junior High School are packaging 5-pound bags of wild bird seed to offer for sale to the public each Saturday from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The young people will sell the seed outside W. T. Grant's Store in Nameoki Village Shopping Center, according to Gerald Mullens, branch chairman.

The sale will continue each Saturday through February, he said.

The students are mixing the seed themselves. Mullens explained, using quantities of sunflower seeds, cracked corn and other bird seed mixture, among other ingredients. Proceeds from the project will be used to further activities of the student animal protective group.

Yule Card Greetings Custom for 130 Years

By BETH MOHR
Copy News Service

"A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to You." This favorite greeting of today was the wish on the first known Christmas card, sent in 1843.

A Londoner named Henry Cole conceived the idea and had an artist friend, John Calcraft Horsley, design the cards.

Scenes are of customs still practiced in 1970.

In the center of the card is a family gathered at Christmas dinner, the adults raising glasses in a holiday toast.

Scenes are of customs still practiced in 1970. The last paragraph of the original card, 12 remain.

The lasting popularity of the old wish and old themes suggests that Christmas cards have changed little through the years.

Other cards in the collection prove otherwise.

Fitting the season, Christmas greetings also have reflected the moods and events of changing times over the past 130 years. Ed Clatworthy, a Hallmark director, reports.

In this year's vast variety of cards can be found reflections of all of the styles of the past. A change in postal rates occurred in England shortly before the first 1,000 cards were mailed.

The penny post was introduced in the United Kingdom in 1840, putting postage within the financial reach of many.

By 1850, the sending of cards had become an established English custom.

During the 1860s, when the first commercial firms began publishing cards in London, Kate Greenaway became the favorite artist.

Her designs, featuring darling children exquisitely dressed in Victorian fashion, were widely imitated.

"During the depression, cards spoofed being poor," Clatworthy explained.

"People seemed to be apologizing for their condition, but they never lost faith in tomorrow and the cards reflected this feeling."

In 1954, Americans sent about two billion Christmas greetings. This year, it is estimated that four billion cards will be exchanged.

"One reason for the increase in card sending is the mobility of the American family," Clatworthy said.

"Before World War II, Americans tended to stay pretty close to home, but that is no longer true. In recent years we've experienced a tremendous reshuffling of the population."

"And when people move they continue to send holiday greetings to their old friends, while at the same time adding newly acquired friends to their list."

Professional Burglar Sees His Kind Vanishing

By NANCY ANDERSON
Copley News Service

Hollywood—A once-successful Hollywood burglar (if you can call a man who did 17 years in stir "successful") says his kind is almost extinct.

The days — or, rather, the nights — when a dedicated second-story man could lift $25,000 at Leo Carillo's in a matter of minutes are no more.

Credit cards and paste gems have so completely replaced the cash and genuine sparklers which formerly crammed Beverly Hills and Bel-Air wall safes that professional burglars are going the way of the Rocky Mountain big horn.

Duke, the ex-burglar of my acquaintance, explains: "The only professional burglars working now are those commissioned to steal certain things. Most burglars now are committed by amateurs, by kids trying to raise a little money or by people into drugs. And they are dangerous."

"A professional burglar won't hurt anybody if he helps it. I never went into a house armed. In addition to that, a pro will have studied the house and picked his escape route before going in. So he won't panic like an amateur."

"It's the amateur, especially the one on drugs, who'll kill somebody if he's taken by surprise. If you hear a burglar in your house, try to pretend that you're asleep."

"Don't let him know that you have seen him. Duke gave up his calling when he came out of prison seven years ago after his third time in, however, he enjoys recalling the events of his career, and when he does, he drops more names than a social climber."

Clark Gable, Gary Cooper, Robert Young, Kay Francis and John Wayne: these were but a few of the biggies with whom he did business.

Duke's story, as he tells it, might have been the script for an early James Cagney movie, for, growing up in the San Francisco Mission district, he was the good kid who went wrong only after he fell in with the wrong crowd and was falsely accused.

Interestingly, his troubles began with another fellow named Duke, John (Duke) Wayne.

One Saturday, I went with these kids to see John Wayne at the Rialto," Duke, the ex-burglar, relates. "He was there in person, a young, tall, skinny actor wearing a big, white hat and two guns."

"Some way, one of his guns disappeared, and the police questioned me about it."

Then, according to Duke, they gave him a vicious beating even though he had no knowledge of the missing weapon.

"After another, similar experience, he decided that, since he was usually suspected, and with that, he became a thief."

Later, because Hollywood is a mecca for creative talent, he drifted there. His talent was for burglary, and Hollywood in the 1940s was an ideal place for its exercise.

"By the time I started burglarizing the homes of movie stars," Duke says, "I'd learned to take only cash and jewelry. When I first started out as a burglar, I took big stuff, but I'd learned that you'd be lucky to get $500 for a fence for a $12,000 mink coat."

"Besides, a burglar can't put a mink coat in his pocket, and, if police in Beverly Hills see a man walking down the street late at night carrying a silver tea service or furs, they are going to stop him."

Party Crasher
Of the various schemes he employed to rob the stars, one of his favorite began with party crashing.

"I'd find out when a star was going to have a party," he says. "Then I'd dress like a guest and go. Outside the door I'd strike up a conversation with people who were invited, and, as they went in, I'd walk in with them. I was never stopped or questioned once."

"Inside, I'd find out where the guests kept their wraps. Then I'd go through evening bags and pockets looking for names and addresses."

"I never took anything from the party except names and addresses of people there."

Since a person at the party could not possibly be at home at the same time, Duke, through checking identifications, acquired a handy list of residences ripe for immediate burglary.

Thus equipped, he sometimes went directly from the party to the home of one of the guests to clean it of cash and jewelry.

Melvin Gillie Boy Scout Council President

Melvin L. Gillie, 24 Oaklawn Drive, manager of the local W. T. Grant Co. store, was elected president of the Cahokia Mound Council, Boy Scouts of America, at the council's annual business meeting held Monday evening in Edwardsville.

Gillie has been active in scouting for 35 years, beginning as an assistant scoutmaster in North Carolina. Through the years, he has served in numerous positions of leadership, both on a local unit level and at the district and council levels. He became a member of the executive board in 1965, and was elected president in February 1968.

Gillie has been responsible for the organization of two Explorer posts. In addition, he raised over $12,000 as chairman of the special projects committee.

He has been serving for the past year as a vice-president of the council.

Other officers elected for 1972-73 were E. Ray Grisham of Granite City, Gary Coffey of Edwardsville and Robert Bastilla of Highland, all of whom were re-elected. Also elected were: Al C. Stoeber and Ernest Veith.

Henn, the retiring council commissioner, reported that in 1972 there will no longer be neighborhood commissioners; they will be known as unit commissioners, as their main purpose is to serve the scouting units.

He cited the importance of each unit commissioner knowing the exact situation in each unit to which he is assigned, including all aspects of operations, such as leadership, membership and advancement. The organization and extension report given by Howard Schuenke indicated there are currently 2,904 Cub Scouts, 1,230 Boy Scouts, and 420 Explorers, for a total active membership of 3,554 boys in the council.

There are 54 Cub Scout packs, 38 Boy Scout troops and 23 Explorer posts for a total of 135 units currently in operation.

The strength of the units was demonstrated when over 700 scouts and leaders from the council participated in a camporee held in October, "Mick" Strange, council activities chairman, reported.

Strange pointed out that, for the first time, major council-wide events were held for Cub Scouts: such as a four-day camp day camp, a fun event known as Dyd Dyd Dyd day and a Webelos day at Camp Sunnen.

Progress in the council was further indicated by a report submitted by Robert Blew, council chairman. He said Camp Sunnen, the council's summer camp located near Potosi, Mo., again was rated a National Standard Camp, highest award a camp can receive. The 1972 season had the largest attendance in the history of the camp, which opened in 1953. This year, 50.3% of all Boy Scouts attended.

Mike Bilbrey of Venice, chief of the Cahokia Lodge, Order of the Arrow, national Scouting brotherhood of honor campers, reported that the lodge has developed a "Where to Go Camping" booklet and distributed it to all scout units.

Through the efforts of the lodge members, a maintenance building at Camp Sunnen was completed, along with re-roofing of other camp buildings.

Bokba, leadership and training chairman, reported that 70% of the Boy Scout leaders received the new training

Ottwein, Robert Simon and Vance.

Robert Blew, Lou Bokba, John Ubaudi of Collinsville and Tom Barker, Bastilla, Don Gnaedinger and Dr. Carl Rogers of Highland were named to the board.

Others elected to the executive board were Dr. R. Daniel Elliott of Troy and James Burke and Bill Lowe, both of Greenville.

Elected as council members in charge from the Quad-City area were Glenn Abernethy, Donald Adams, Kenneth Anderson, School Supt., Bob J. Davis, Jack Dempsey, David Fox, Al Kenzen, Barry Loman, Dr. Stanley F. Maer, Avery Schermer and Irvin Slater Jr.

Elected as associate members of the council from Granite City were Harold R. Fischer, Otto Roman, Arthur Roseman, Al C. Stoeber and Ernest Veith.

Henn, the retiring council commissioner, reported that in 1972 there will no longer be neighborhood commissioners; they will be known as unit commissioners, as their main purpose is to serve the scouting units.

He cited the importance of each unit commissioner knowing the exact situation in each unit to which he is assigned, including all aspects of operations, such as leadership, membership and advancement.

Strange pointed out that, for the first time, major council-wide events were held for Cub Scouts: such as a four-day camp day camp, a fun event known as Dyd Dyd Dyd day and a Webelos day at Camp Sunnen.

Progress in the council was further indicated by a report submitted by Robert Blew, council chairman. He said Camp Sunnen, the council's summer camp located near Potosi, Mo., again was rated a National Standard Camp, highest award a camp can receive. The 1972 season had the largest attendance in the history of the camp, which opened in 1953. This year, 50.3% of all Boy Scouts attended.

Mike Bilbrey of Venice, chief of the Cahokia Lodge, Order of the Arrow, national Scouting brotherhood of honor campers, reported that the lodge has developed a "Where to Go Camping" booklet and distributed it to all scout units.

Through the efforts of the lodge members, a maintenance building at Camp Sunnen was completed, along with re-roofing of other camp buildings.

Bokba, leadership and training chairman, reported that 70% of the Boy Scout leaders received the new training series, in line with current updating of the program.

The council finished the year with 65.1% of all unit leaders—cubmasters, scoutmasters and explorer advisors—trained.

The report of the public relations committee headed by chairman Winter showed speakers' bureau under the leadership of Fox and an intensified program of informing the public about scouting activities and values, especially during February, scout month.

Schermer, advancement chairman, noted that his committee will pay particular attention in 1973 to stimulating advancement in every unit and will inform leaders about current major changes in the program.

He said the 1972 class of Eagle scouts was named in honor of Dr. George T. Wilkins Sr. of Granite City, a veteran scout.

Dr. Elliott, health and safety chairman, complimented the Uniwah District for its health and safety event held at Wilson Park during the fall. He said his committee found Camp Sunnen in excellent condition from health and safety stand points.

Minority Businesses Vital, Group Is Told

Without the development of businesses run by minority group members, inner cities will continue to be looked on as tax burdens, Arthur Williams, assistant director of minority business enterprises for the U. S. Department of Commerce, said Tuesday at a conference of black affirmative action officers from throughout the nation.

Speaking on the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville campus, Williams said viable minority-run businesses can develop an economic base in depressed areas of cities and such development could be the stimulus for long-term improvements in the quality of life.

"Our office exists to help provide equal access to financial resources for prospective entrepreneurs at the local level," Williams noted.

He said the federal government is working with the private sector and with higher education to make the development of minority businesses a reality.

"Minority firms have been unable to make significant inroads into the large corporate marketplace," Williams said. "This can change with help from the private and public sectors."

There are many ways to remedy the situation, he said, including provisions in corporate affirmative action programs that require corporations to buy necessary goods from minority-run businesses.

Williams said the private sector cannot succeed unless minority group entrepreneurs are dedicated to the task of making their businesses succeed.

"There's no such thing as a 40-hour week when you're talking about developing a viable minority business," he said. "It takes a lot more to bridge the gap of economic development."

There are several key reasons why minority business enterprise makes sense, Williams said. It is profitable for the local community; it helps the national economy; and it serves a large, growing market of minority group consumers.

In addition, Williams said, closing the gap of economic development is "the morally right thing to do."

Mechanical Bids On Two Buildings

The Illinois Capital Development Board will open the first of two sets of bids today on construction of two classroom buildings for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Mechanical contract bids will be opened by the CDB at the Illinois Building Authority office in Chicago at 2 p.m.

General contract bids will be opened on Dec. 7.

B. D. Hudgens, SUE vice-president for business affairs, said the results of the bids are expected to be available for members of the SIU Board of Trustees when they meet at SIUE on Dec. 15.

Under a new system adopted by the state on capital construction projects, contracts for the two classroom buildings on Aug. 31. The buildings will be erected immediately north of the Peck Academic Building in the academic park area.

Hudgens said he hopes construction can begin in early January.

Demo Governors Set Caucus in St. Louis

Thirty-one Democratic governors are expected to attempt to take control over their national party at the Democratic Governors Caucus Sunday in St. Louis.

They are expected to seek the resignation of Jean Westwood as national chairman of the Democratic National Committee and nominate a successor.

Host Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri has been mentioned as a possible successor, as he is a national committeeman from Missouri and past chairman of the National Governors Conference.

But Hearnes has announced plans to enter full-time law practice with the St. Louis firm of Padberg, Raack, McSweeney and Slater with offices in the downtown area. His term as governor will expire on Jan. 9.

Tax Freeze Delay Likely -- to Avoid Gov. Ogilvie Taking Credit for It

Springfield — Illinois homeowners anticipating early tax relief may be in for a disappointment. They may have to wait quite a while.

If local real estate taxes are to be frozen at 1972 levels and rebates made next year, the Illinois legislature is going to have to act at the special session now under way in conjunction with the regular-recessed 1972 session.

It is far from certain that it will. His senses still dulled from that barrage of campaign oratory, the average citizen might feel that — with all the recent candidates apparently in agreement — a tax freeze and resulting relief would be automatic.

Not so. Once again, there arises that old legislative problem, not of what to do, but how to do it. Take an almost evenly divided legislature, a lame-duck one in major proportions.

Strife in an outgoing governor, an incoming governor with vigorous ideas, and two political parties not entirely happy with recent election results — and you have all the ingredients for a deadlocked legislature.

Many people beneath the Statehouse Dome believe this is exactly what is going to happen.

The original tax freeze proposal announced by Republican Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie in October is a relatively simple one. It would provide for a general freeze on taxes to be collected by local governments and school districts. The bills could be no more than the 1972 property tax bills that will be issued as usual in April and May of next year.

Granite City PRESS-RECORD
Page 36 Thur., Nov. 30, 1972

The freeze would extend through January 1, 1977. It would also provide for rebates of up to 20% because of the recently enacted federal revenue sharing program.

But this plan does not suit Democratic Governor-elect Daniel Walker. During the campaign, he blasted the Ogilvie proposal as a political hoax. He charged it would discriminate against small homeowners and apartment renters, and give windfall profits to large real estate developers.

At his Chicago press conference, Walker repeated his earlier criticism and said he will support immediate tax freeze legislation only if it provides more relief to small homeowners.

Walker has offered no specific plan of his own and apparently does not intend to do so at the special, lame-duck session. He did say he will accept any "fair" plan.

The Statehouse view is that Walker was surprised at widespread press criticism that he intends to take an active role in the legislative session while still only a governor-elect.

Now he indicates he will stay clear of Springfield and state affairs until formally sworn in as governor in January.

The view at the Capitol is that Democratic legislators will be in no mood to let an outgoing Republican governor take credit for any tax relief.

They are more likely to gamble that taxpayers won't be too disturbed at a year's delay, and that a 1973 relief program enacted under a Democratic administration next spring would mean rebate checks in the political off-year of 1974.

Select Safe, Suitable, Washable Toys for Tots

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Madison County Extension
Adviser—Home Economics

Why is it that most children seen on television or owned by a friend, and once it is his, will promptly ignore it? Why does a large packing box provide hours of contented play for a child who has a toy chest and shelves chocked full of toys?

Why do most parents look about them in dismay a few days after Christmas when they see the toys so eagerly requested strewn about and disregarded as the youngsters resume play with an old favorite?

Some answers may be that toys are often purchased in haste and most children have more toys than they know what to do with.

What is a toy? It is a plaything that should delight a child. It should provide hours upon hours of fun. This fun may be creative, imaginative, energy expanding, or relaxing; but it must be fun. For some children, a game with complicated rules isn't fun. A stray isn't fun. A stuffed animal that soon looks shabby and can't be washed isn't fun. But what is a parent to do?

Several Things to Do
There are several things you can do. Shop carefully and avoid buying poorly-made toys. Resist your children's pleas for toys that you know will soon bore them. This is perhaps the hardest to do and the Scrooge-like advice may seem out of keeping with the season. Yet in the long run, it will be the most effective means of assuring your children of the pleasures they can derive from the toys they do own.

What type of toys should you buy? A toy should be well-made, of durable materials, safe, colorful; if it is to be packed away, the container should be sturdy. It is useless to ask a child to put a toy away if the box it is to be stored in falls apart after a few days.

A toy should be easily cleaned, either by immersing completely in sudsy water, or by scrubbing with a lathered sponge. Most children over six are quite capable of taking on this "housekeeping" chore and will look forward to clean-up time. For the very young, who taste and chew everything in sight, washable toys are a safeguard for their health.

Paints, crayons, and clay should be non-toxic with accidental stains and spills easily removed. There's not much fun to dabbling with water colors if a resulting spot on the wall or rug will put mother in a temper.

Choose Wisely
Children of various ages require different stimulation from toys and most toy departments offer a wide variety of playthings of all ages. It is up to you to choose wisely.

Children enjoy doing the real thing. Give them a variety of things to grow-up-to. Little girls, even boys, love to putter with pots and pans. Regular muffin tins, cookie cutters and small saucers are relatively inexpensive and a child will derive a great deal of pleasure from serving food made in the real thing.

Boys like to hammer, saw and nail things together. A sturdy workbench with regular size tools will provide hours of contented and creative play. Basic instructions on safety are a must, and some supervision in the beginning is essential.

A boy given such tools will assume the responsibility they require. He will consider his play man's work and enjoy it longer.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING CAN BE FUN

Fatigued feet, the Christmas shopper's lament, takes its toll on the entire family. When Mrs. Santa Claus' feet ache she gets grouchy. A little pre-shopping planning can keep gift buying pleasurable right through the dinner hour.

Spend an at-home day preparing casserole dishes to freeze. In shopping days, select a meal to defrost, tear up salad makings and put them into a covered bowl, line up the groceries for supper, and set the table before leaving.

This way, even if you are delayed and open the door to find a famished family, you can quickly get the meal on the table. If there are small children, leave a snack tray of carrots and celery to stave off fussing. It also helps to bring a small gift, such as a Christmas coloring book, to hold their attention until dinner time.

Upon returning from shopping, pop the casserole into the oven and then use 15 minutes of the reheating time for a foot bath. Soaking your feet in a basin of warm water will do wonders for your disposition. And it can be done in any room so that you can converse and listen to the children's news of the day at the same time.

State Library Directing Distribution of Films

By JOAN MURARO
Copy News Service

Springfield — Public information films, formerly available through the department of public health, are now being distributed by the state library instead. Sometimes, initially, the decision was made several months ago that it would be more economical and more efficient to have one agency handle all the films instead of each department calculating its own. After some consideration, the audiovisual section of the state library was selected to receive them — an expected grand total of 1,424.

The department of mental health, however, decided to retain and administer its own collection and so several hundred of them went to the Learning Media Institute in Decatur for review, and where necessary, repair. Some outdated films will be scrapped. The others will be reorganized and re-evaluated.

Meanwhile, the mental health films have been withdrawn from public viewing, and presently can be obtained only by department facilities and by agencies which receive grants from the department.

Twenty-five separate titles on drug abuse recently have been received by the Institute and these should be available to anyone in the state around the first of the year.

For Restricted Groups
Certain other drug abuse films are available only to restricted groups since some professional training is required for them.

When the rest are made available to a wider audience it is undecided but the Institute has no intention of turning any of them over to the state library, a spokesman said. The state library also doesn't have the medical self-help civil defense films which the public health department used to handle. These, a public health spokesman said, were federal films and could not be turned over to the library. Instead, they were given to the civil defense agency which now distributes them.

When all the films are accounted for, the library was scheduled to receive a final total of 1,424 films, from an original collection of 2,064.

A final total of 1,296 have actually been received by the state library, and where the missing 128 films are seems to be anybody's guess. Mrs. Garnetta Cook, head of the audio-visual section, says the films may be worth anywhere from $50 to $400 or $500 apiece. At the minimum price of $50, that would make something over $7,500 worth of films missing, while if they cost $400 each to replace, they would be worth more than $50,000.

Drug Films Missing

Public health says it has turned over all its collection, save the civil defense and mental health films, and doesn't have any left. Missing are titles on drug addiction, alcoholism and others. Public health has reportedly said it will try to trace them if they fail to turn up by themselves.

Meanwhile the other 1,200 plus, including films from the department of Children and Family Services, the Chicago Heart Association and the Society for the Prevention of Blindness, can be obtained through the state library.

In most instances, the state library will not distribute films directly to individuals, schools or other organizations, but provides them through the 18 library systems in the state, with requests made to the local library or library system, which in turn requests them from the state library.

However, Mrs. Cook said, because people were accustomed to getting public health films direct, the library is currently giving schools and public bodies or organizations a choice of dealing directly with the state library or going through their local facility. They are being notified, though, when the changeover is completed, direct distribution will stop.

Dr. Eckert Receives $2,000 Research Award

Dr. Robert C. Eckert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer G. Eckert, 2325 Hodges Ave., a research chemist at the Charleston Research Center, has won the 1972 George Olmstead Award of the American Paper Institute.

Dr. Eckert's award-winning research was completed during the course of his doctoral studies at North Carolina State University.

The purpose of the award is to honor and encourage original and outstanding paper industry-related research by young scientists and engineers whether they are at universities or working for paper companies and their suppliers.

His research project is entitled "Oxidation Degradation of Phenolic Lignin Model Compounds with Oxygen and Alkali."

His work may help answer a number of questions relating to paper-making operations which depend upon an understanding of the mechanisms of the interaction of oxygen with lignin, make a significant contribution to pollution control, and perhaps most importantly, give a greater insight into how a raw material that is available in great abundance can be converted into valuable chemical products.

The award and a check for $2,000 were presented to Dr. Eckert by David L. Luke III, chairman of the American Paper Institute and president of Westvaco, at a paper industry forum held in Williamsburg, Va.

ROBERT C. ECKERT

Dr. Eckert is a 1964 graduate of Granite City High School. He received his bachelor of science degree in forestry at the University of Illinois in 1968 and his doctor of philosophy degree from North Carolina State University in 1972.

His wife, Lynn, teaches in the elementary schools in Charleston, S.C.

Foreign Educators Plan Visit to Illinois Schools

Educators from Argentina, Peru, Mexico, Turkey and Yugoslavia will be in Illinois Jan. 7 through Feb. 10 as part of the U.S. Office of Educational Development Program.

The seven teachers set to visit Illinois are members of a group now taking special courses in applied linguistics and methods of teaching English as a foreign language at the University of Texas in Austin.

The visitors will spend a short time in Springfield meeting with members of the Office of Public Instruction to discuss foreign language programs in the state.

The next step will be observing local schools in the state. Darrell E. Ider, director of teacher placement for the state office, said the visitors would be sent to schools in Cook, DuPage, Kane and Will counties.

He said the teachers from Spanish-speaking countries will most likely be assigned to schools in Elgin and Joliet where there are programs for teaching English as a second language.

Teachers as Guides

A host teacher will guide each visitor in observing classes and language labs, meeting with local educators and observing various school-community activities such as PTA meetings.

While observing individual schools, each of the teachers will stay with a "typical American family" for broader day-to-day contact with the culture.

The visiting educators are: Vangel Karagumov and Ljubinka Ardonova, Yugoslavia; Fethi Cabuk, Turkey; Jose W. Lopez, Carabaja, Peru; Ruth Maria Flores Maldonado and Eduardo Cardenas Larios, Mexico; and Maria Mercedes Araujo de Coronel, Argentina.

Ethnic Role in Politics Is Topic of Seminar

The role of ethnic groups in local, state and national politics will be the subject of a special seminar course offered by the government department of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"Ethnic Politics in the United States" will be offered during the winter quarter at the East St. Louis Center of the university. The instructor, Kenneth L. Serfaty, said the course would require "maximum contribution by the students, and would therefore be structured as a seminar."

"For this reason," he said, "and in order to make the course available to employed students and those who live some distance from East St. Louis," the course will meet all day on six Saturdays beginning Jan. 13.

Glaser said the course will "focus on such factors as concentration and dispersion of the various ethnic groups, economic status and problems, self-identification and attitudes toward other ethnic groups and ethnic organizations."

He said because there is little literature on the topic, students would be required to do research from primary sources, including documents and publications supplied by ethnic organizations themselves. Glaser has accumulated a file of such materials which will be available to the students.

Glaser said "each student will be expected to make a special study of the political role of an ethnic group to which the student does not himself belong." He said he hoped the course could provide a "worthwhile experience in mutual learning and inter-ethnic understanding."

The course is open to juniors, seniors and graduate students who have already completed an introductory course in American government. Information on enrollment is available at

Illinois Parks Provide 12 Snowmobile Trails

Copy News Service

Springfield — One new area has been added, and one taken away, from the state-owned areas where snowmobiling is permitted.

Deleted from the list is Starved Rock State Park, while for the first time this year, snowmobiling will be permitted at Illini State Park in LaSalle county.

Ray Norbut, of the conservation department's division of parks and memorials, said that a total of 12 state recreation facilities will have snowmobile trails this winter. In all of them, information will be available where the machines are permitted in the facility.

Snowmobiles will be allowed in Illinois Beach, Chain O' Lakes, Rock Cut, Silver Springs, Johnson Sauk Trail, Illini, Kankakee River, Kickapoo, Lake Le-Aqua-Na, and Mississippi Palisades state parks, at Dawson Lake in McLean county and on the Hennepin Canal.

At least four inches of snow must be on the ground before snowmobiles will be permitted and operators must stay on marked trails and observe all rules governing use of the snowmobiles, Norbut said.

Runways Vary

Areas where usage is permitted varies widely in length and type of terrain from park to park, with an existing roadway a mile and a half long, running parallel to the river, the only permitted route at one, while 10 miles have been added at Hennepin, for a total of 63 miles on the feeder and main canals as well as on the banks.

Snowmobiles are allowed on the East St. Louis Center, 411 E. Broadway, 618-271-7150, and from the government department at SIUE, 618-692-2532.

state-owned properties only until sunset, Norbut said.

Use of the sport vehicles has increased greatly in recent years, and brought criticism from some ecologists that the noisy vehicles frightened wildlife and their use often damaged plants and the terrain under the snow.

To protect both wildlife and the park itself, the vehicles will be allowed only in those areas which have been specifically designed. Adequate information and registration services will be provided in each park to provide necessary information, conservation sources said.

School Finance, Law Is Topic of Meeting

The Gateway East field chapter of Phi Delta Kappa will meet at 10 a.m. Saturday at Fischer's Restaurant in Belleville. The program is entitled "How Various Judicial Decisions Affect Illinois School Finance."

The speaker will be Robert Brodt, assistant legal advisor, Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction. Program chairman is Wilbur R. Frimpe, superintendent, educational service region, Madison County.

Dental Assistants to Help in Classroom

Because dentists can treat patients more efficiently by working with dental assistants, the Southern Illinois University School of Dental Medicine has hired three experienced dental assistants to help in classroom and clinical situations.

Dr. Naseeb Shory, chairman of the dental school's department of health ecology, said the 24 students in the first class will be taught the benefits of four-handed dentistry.

"We firmly believe that our students will be able to render more efficient care and treat more patients by using auxiliaries," Shory said.

Supervising dental assistants in the school's Dental Auxiliary Utilization Program will be Blanche Trusty, an experienced dental assistant herself who supervised a similar program for 10 years at the St. Louis University dental school.

Working with her will be Georgia Smith of Hartford, with 15 years of dental assisting experience, and Connie Pero of Jerseyville, who completed dental assisting coursework at LaSalle College and worked for a dentist in private practice.

Directing the teaching of the students in the use of auxiliary personnel will be Dr. Frederic Custer of the dental school faculty. Techniques such as the proper position at the chair, good posture and sitting down while working will be stressed because they can lengthen a dentist's professional career.

One-Act Play to Be Presented at SIUE

Sam Shepard's one-act play, Forensic and the Navigators, will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday by the Quinset Theater of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The public is invited.

Bob Shaw of East St. Louis is cast as Forensic. Other members of the cast include Eleanor Latham, Philadelphia, as Emmett; Debra Leneer, Chicago, as Oolan; Larry Hilder, Brighton, as the First Exterminator; and Edward Kovach, Granite City, Second Exterminator.

The surrealistic tragedy comedy, dealing with the paranoia of our times, is directed by James J. Knobloch, Belleville.

Ammons, Stitt Keep Jazz Moving in Music World

By JUDY HUGG
Copley News Service

Jazz. It's good and it endures. Which is more than you can say of America's other musical art forms. Swing was born in the thirties and then grew old and died in the forties. Rock bounced onto the scene in the fifties, spread into a million varieties in the sixties, and wound up nowhere to go in the seventies. But jazz, which started long ago in New Orleans, goes on — like that old river.

And keeping it moving are people like Gene (Big) Ammons and Sonny Stitt, two great sax men brought together in a new Verne two-record LP (2VBS-5812) called "Prime Cuts."

This is the sublime jazz that you look for and too seldom find. Absolutely solid, gutsy, Chicago-style jazz. Ammons and Stitt both play tenor, although Stitt occasionally switches to alto. The "Prime Cuts" are records they originally cut in 1961-62 (although they have played together as recently as 1970 in the Monterey Jazz Festival).

These are not your usual three-minute-and-on-to-the-next-piece recordings. Their treatment of "Bye, Bye Blackbird," for instance, runs for nearly 10 minutes. They spend more than seven minutes playing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" in a way you never have heard it played. It's not always possible to tell whether Ammons or Stitt is center stage, although Ammons has a throaty tone while Stitt gives even the tenor a thin, alto sound.

Other standards on the LPs are "Walkin'," "Long Ago and Far Away," "Blues Up and Down," "Cousin Charles," "Why Was I Born," and "Autumn Leaves."

Ammons and Stitt are backed up by John Houston, piano; Charles Williams, bass; George Brown, drums; Donald Patterson, organ; and Paul Weeden, guitar.

(A popular soft drink company advertises its product as the "real thing." That's Ammons-Stitt—the real thing.
50 Debut Albums
Each month at least 50 debut albums of newly formed groups cross my desk. And, seldom upon first hearing does one find an LP in the stack that merits immediate attention.

However, Bulldog and their new Decca album by the same name is another story, because they get you in their teeth before the record is one-third over. It is a strong commercial package with several top 40 possibilities.

Bulldog, a straight-on rock quintet, is headed by two former Young Rascals (now de-been tagged as a mixture of Joe Cocker, Neilson, Peter Wolf, of the J. Giles Band and might add a bit of Dr. Hook. This might make him a bulldog of Hines 47 Varieties without papers, but he sure can howl up a storm, and write like a thoroughbred.

The LP lays down some good solid rock 'n' roll which includes Chuck Berry's "Too Much Monkey Business" and Jimmie Thomas' "Rockin' Robin."

Bulldog's most gutsy cuts are originals penned by Hoche, Turin and Thorngren. They include the powerful hit-bound "No," "I'm A Madman," "Don't Blame It On Me" and the touching "You Underlined My Life."

Surely a group that will be heard from again.

Not all the reviews of Andrew L. Stone's "The Great Waltz" have been favorable, hinting perhaps that lessons from Arthur Murray may have been indicated, but the consensus is that the music makes the movie worthwhile. Based on the themes of Johann Strauss and sons, the sound-track on the MGM label is a melodic delight. Featuring the voices of Mary Costa and Kenneth McCallar, some of the most listenable sides are "With You Gone," "Love Is Music" and "Through Jetty's Eyes." The notable instrumental renditions are "Wine, Women and Song" and "The Great Waltz in Boston (The Blue Danube)." All of the music is memorable, and it is an album that will wear well with the years, just as has the music of Johann Strauss and his sons.

SIUC Plans School of Law Building by Fall of 1976

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale hopes to have its new School of Law in a $5,115,800 building by the fall of 1976. University trustees have approved a revision in SIUC-Carbondale's 1973-74 capital budget request, making planning funds for the new building a number two priority. First on the $14,735,500 budget request list is an addition to the campus steam generating plant.

Planning funds requested for the School of Law total $106,640. The two-story building will be designed to accommodate 450 students, expected School of Law capacity by 1978.

A pre-plan statement developed with law school dean Hiram Lear calls for a 96,000 square foot structure, of which more than one-third will be devoted to law school classrooms.

A 350-seat courtroom, with associated quarters for judge and jury, and smaller mock courtrooms are among preliminary design features.

Thirty faculty offices and 15 research offices are programmed for the faculty-administrative section. The student activities area will include facilities for a quarterly journal, a newspaper, a legal society and student government. Two offices in the building will be set up for the use of regional lawyers expected to visit the school's library and mock court sessions.

A TO Z PINOCHLE CLUB PLANS HOLIDAY PARTY

The A to Z Pinochle Club met with Mrs. Doris Hendricks for its November session.

A dessert course was served and plans were completed for a holiday party Dec. 18. After dinner Mrs. Helen Krakowicki, 832 Greenwood St., Madison, will be hostess for an evening of cards. A gift exchange will also take place.

Prizes for the evening went to Mrs. Mary Mang, first; Mrs. Krakowicki, second; Mrs. Vi Kasabum, third; Mrs. Ilse Bauer, fourth; and Mrs. Lucille Broyles, consolation.

Also present were Mesdames Clara Winter, Betty Allen, Dolores Byrnes and a guest, Mrs. Veronica Kula.

LYDIA CIRCLE MEETS

The Lydia Circle of Nameoki United Methodist Church held its November meeting at the home of Mrs. Gladys Russell. The hostess opened the meeting with prayer.

Refreshments were served to nine members and two guests. Mrs. Lu Ann Briner, president of the church's Women's Society of Christian Service, and Mrs. Ruth Bunch.

Mrs. Virgie Daniels, circle chairman, read a "Letter of Thanksgiving," and all participated in giving individual "thanks."

The devotion was entitled "What You Do With Your Past" and included verses from the First Corinthians, 2:9.

Mrs. Mildred Hess, 14 Del Rio Ave., will serve as hostess for the next meeting, Dec. 14, when a pot luck dinner will be held along with a $1 gift exchange.

Mrs. Briner reported to the gathering on the upcoming changes in WSCS, which will be known as the "Church Women United." Included in her summary was an outline of the new officers' duties. The next meeting of the organization will be Dec. 11 at the church. A special program will be presented by the young people. Members are to bring cookies for refreshments and for packing for the shut-ins of the church.

Mrs. Mary Bailey dismissed the meeting in prayer. Others attending were Mesdames Vern Wiltrout, Violet Thornberry, Lucille Webb, Jessie Sayers, Marie Long and Marian Whitaker.

$40,500 Offered for City Landfill Site

A request that the Granite City Council authorize the sale of the city-owned landfill area along Route 203 at more than double the price the city paid for it — was referred to the council's Sanitary Committee Monday night under a legal ruling that the city would be required to call bids for any sale of city land or property.

The request came from the Lueders Agency, 12 Nameoki Village Shopping Center, in an offer to pay the city $40,500 for the 22-acre tract that cost the city approximately $16,000. The city acquired the tract for landfill purposes in the early 1950s.

Fred E. Fossick of the real estate agency, who attended the council session, told the aldermen that his firm has a customer which hopes to acquire the land for construction of a truck terminal and repair shop. The term was not identified.

Fossick said that St. Clair County officials have assured the Lueders Agency and the client that the land is properly zoned for the intended construction. The tract is located in Canteen Township, St. Clair County, south of Eagle Park Acres.

Pay Earnest Money
In a communication sent prior to the council meeting to City Clerk Robert Stevens, the real estate firm submitted a check for $1,000 in earnest money and said the balance of the proffered $40,500 would be paid in cash upon closing the sale.

City Attorney Leon Scroggins told the council that state law requires the city to advertise for bids in the sale of property of land and that a motion to accept the offer in Monday night's meeting would be out of order.

Council members authorized Stevens to hire an appraiser to determine a fair cost for the land and to advertise for bids for its sale.

Council members referred to the Street and Alley Committee a request by the Granite City Trust & Savings Bank for removal of three parking meters and permission to break the curbing for installation of a driveway to a new 25-car parking lot in the 1900 block of State Street.

A request by Richard Allen and Robert Francis for rezoning of lots at 2945 and 2945 Madison Ave. for construction of new law offices was referred to the City Planning and Zoning Commission.

An ordinance establishing a traffic stop on Ohio Avenue at 24th Street was approved.

Also approved was a resolution appropriating $25,000 in motor fuel tax funds to supplement other funds already set up for improvement of Buxton Avenue from Victory Drive to Clair Avenue. The appropriation brings to $190,000 the total MFT funds appropriated for the project.

Costs of the job will total $176,981, according to engineering estimates.

Two Held in Robbery Taken to County Jail

Two of four persons charged with armed robbery early Monday were taken to the Madison County Jail Tuesday in lieu of bonds set by Associate Judge Merlin Hiscott.

They are Jimmy Ray, 35, no address, and Larry Dennis Dickers, 37, of 2915 Nameoki Road. Bonds of $5,000 on armed robbery and $2,500 for unlawful restraint were set against the two and an additional bond of $3,000 was set for Ray on a charge of aggravated battery.

A third person, Robert Prince, posted $750 cash bail and was released pending a preliminary hearing to be scheduled. The fourth defendant, Barbara Milton, 19, of 2414 Madison Ave., was receiving treatment at St. Elizabeth Hospital for a possible overdose of drugs.

The four were arrested after Alan and Daria Hampton, 2590 Iowa St., were forced from their home for a ride around town.

Advent TV Program Will Feature Local Church

Central Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), 2020 Johnson Road, will be featured in the opening program of the advent season at 10 a.m. Sunday on Channel 4 television in St. Louis.

The program, which was pre-recorded Monday night, will feature Dr. L. Jim Anthiss, pastor of the church, and the Sanctuary Choir, directed by Joseph Hanson with Judy Owens accompanying.

The choir will sing the antiphons, "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Joy to the World," "Still, Still, Still" and "While My Sheep."

The contemporary call to celebration and benediction were written by Dr. Anthiss. He also will give a modern parable highlighting the spirit of receiving at Christmas.

Sunday morning services at Central Christian are being planned around the "showing of the program. Activities will begin with a congregational advent breakfast at 9 a.m., followed by an "old hymn sing" at 9:30. At 10 a.m., the congregation will view the program 632.

A mock bomb blast at Granite City High School at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday caused a flurry of activity as ambulances transported the "injured" to St. Elizabeth Hospital, and personnel there administered "treatment" to 24 students.

The mock disaster was a test of the hospital's ability to deal with emergency situations. Pretended injuries to the speech and art students, realistically simulated with make-up from the high school theater department, ranged from lacerations and burns to two maternity cases.

The hospital went into its Master Disaster Plan which is automatically applied when 15 or more mishap.

At the hospital, the patients were classified according to their injuries as they were taken from the three Mercer ambulances.

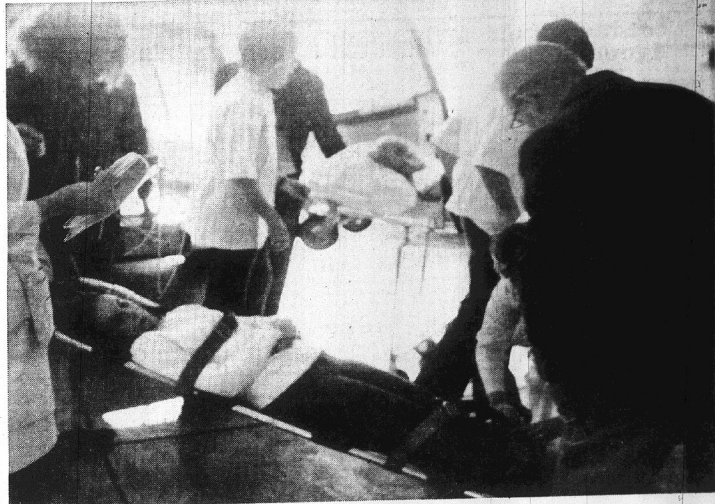

Color tags were attached to each patient, the color indicating whether each was to receive emergency room, trauma, first-aid burn, fracture or x-ray treatment.

First aid was given on the spot to those with serious wounds before they were taken into the hospital.

Die During Treatment
One student was classified "dead on arrival" at the hospital and two supposedly died during treatment. Of those remaining, 14 were "admitted" to the hospital and seven were released following treatment.

The drill was the first since the new facilities in the Doctors' Wing of the Hospital have been in use. It also was the first drill since Bernard T. Pinney, was appointed director of safety and security for the hospital. Pinney is the first full-time safety officer here.

With the new hospital wing in use, numerous changes from the previous drills were made. The new physical therapy room became the burn center because of its nearness to the emergency room.

UNLOADING AMBULANCES. Karen Richardson, foreground, and Kerry Moore, background, are unloaded from ambulances during Tuesday's disaster drill at St. Elizabeth Hospital. Twenty-four students feigned injuries to test the hospital's readiness for an emergency.

ter drill at St. Elizabeth Hospital. Twenty-four students feigned injuries to test the hospital's readiness for an emergency.

cause of its nearness to the emergency room. The x-ray room in the new wing was used for fracture repairs and the new emergency room and trauma center came into use as the lifesaving center.

First-aid cases were treated in the coffee shop and surgery was conducted in the operating rooms area. The business office was converted into the communications center, and admitting and discharge was handled in the cafeteria.

drill. Treating Lewey are Paula Garver, a respiratory therapist, center, and Sister Mary Jerome, R.N.

MOCK DISASTER VICTIM, Mike Mercer, is taken from an ambulance on a stretcher into the hospital for treatment of multiple injuries. In the background are Ron Payton, personnel director;

Dr. Norman Claybourn, triage officer; Mrs. Rosa Beasley, L.P.N.; Mrs. Iva Gooding, nurse coordinator, and Arlus Dillard, a hospital maintenance man.

Mrs. Mamie Crippen Dies Here at Age 81

Mrs. Mamie Ella Crippen, 81, of 2706 Denver St., was pronounced dead upon arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 2:50 p.m. Monday. She was taken to the hospital by ambulance from her home.

Mrs. Crippen, a resident of Granite City 37 years, had been ill for the past two months.

She was born in Ulin, Ill., and formerly lived at Anna, Ill., before moving to Granite City. She was a member of the Pentecostal Church, 25th Street and Dewey Avenue.

Her husband, Charles Crippen, preceded her in death in 1964.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Henry (Ruby) Scott of Granite City and Mrs. Howard (Grace) Fields of Wavona, Mo.; three sons, Leonard Crippen of Louisville, Ky., Paul Crippen of Jacksonville, Fla., and Carl Crippen of Birchtree, Mo.

Three sisters, Mrs. Carrie Hawn and Mrs. Lucy Burnett, both of Granite City, and Mrs. Lois Salisbury of Eminence, Mo.; three brothers, William Cline of Vienna, Ill., six grandchildren, four great-grandchildren and 1 great-great-grandchild.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

YOUTH STEALS PURSE
A youth, about 16 years of age, grabbed a purse from Mrs. Lucy Martis, 1825 Market St., Madison, at Second Street and Ewing Avenue at 5:05 p.m. Monday.

Mrs. Martis said the boy was on a bus with her. After they left the bus, he grabbed her purse and ran. It contained $15 and personal papers.

In Memoriam 33

DEAR DAD—
Three years ago today, (Dec. 1)
you and I went away.
Never to return again except in memories now and then.
The pain and suffering you went through,
We know, because we felt it too.
Now to close this letter and to say
We miss you Dad in every way
Sincerely,
Mrs. Mabel Kuehnel,
Mrs. Maxine Gerlich,
Gene Kuehnel, Don Kuehnel,
Julius Kuehnel Jr., Bill Kuehnel,
Sandra Wolford, Mike Kuehnel, Grandchildren and all who loved him.

In loving memory of
MARY ANN BLYUE
November 28, 1960.
It broke our hearts to lose you
But you did not go alone,
Part of us went with you
The day God called you home.
Loved and Missed by Mom, Pop, Brothers,
Grandparents, Aunts, and Uncles, and all who loved her.

22-11-30

In Memoriam 33

1971.

One Year has passed since that sad day
When one we loved was called away
God took him home, it was his will,
In life we loved him dearly
In death we do the same.

Sadly missed by
Mom, Dad and Sisters
33-11-30

In loving memory of
BRUCE ELLIOTT
who passed away December 2, 1964.

Sadly missed by Family
33-11-30

In memory of SHERLIN (ANDY) HEIMAN who was killed 4 years ago today November 30th, 1968 in Vietnam.

In our heart your memory lingers.
Always tender, fond and true.
There's not a day dear Andy
We do not think of you.

Sadly missed by Mother, Dad, Brother,
Two Sisters, Grandmother,
Grandfather and Friends.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PROPOSED ZONING CHANGE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN TO ALL PARTIES CONCERN-ED, that pursuant to Article 23 of Ordinance #1753 of the City of Granite City, Illinois, the City Plan Commission will hold a public hearing 2301 Adams of said City of Granite City, Illinois, at Granite City, Illinois, at the hour of 1:15 CST on the 14th day of December, 1972, at which meeting it will consider a petition for the amendment of Ordinance #1753, (being the Zoning Ordinance of said City), as same affects the following real estate, to-wit:

Lots 25, 26, and 27 in Block 2 in Maryland Place, a subdivision in the Southwest Quarter of Section 4, Township 3 North,
Range 9 West of the Third Principal Meridian, as shown on the plat thereof recorded in Plat Book 16 Page 8 of the Recorder's Office of Madison County, Illinois. Situated in Granite City, Illinois.

Said amendment would change the zoning classification of the real estate immediately above-described from an R-1 residential District to a C-1 commercial District.

This property is also known as 2235 Pontoon Road, Granite City, Illinois.

OLD-TIME GREETINGS. Here are some examples of Boston's first Christmas cards, printed by Louis Prang (inset) in 1874. The card concept caught on quickly, due in part to his lithographic processing and multi-color printing techniques.

LUMINARIAS GALORE. There's nothing prettier than a house outlined in lights at Christmas time. But in New Mexico houses aren't illuminated by the standard colored lights, but by candles or luminarias. Possibly the most spectacular display of luminarias is found at the Hebenstreit mansion in Albuquerque, where more than 6,000 luminarias line the walkways and roofs.

CONVENIENT ACCESS is a feature of the Bicentennial Park plan involving a site linking the Horseshoe Lake State Park and Cahokia Mound State Park. This map shows existing highway connections and proposed rapid transit routes.

Driver Hurt as Car

Hits McKinley Bridge

Roger Harris, 31, of St. Louis, a military policeman, was injured when his government car struck a railing at the east end of the McKinley Bridge superstructure in Venice at 8:45 a.m. Wednesday. Harris said he applied his car's brakes to avoid striking another auto and the brakes locked, causing the vehicle to skid into the railing.

He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was treated for a cut under his left eye, an abrasion to his right knee and lacerations and an abrasion above his left eye. He was transferred to Scott Air Force Base Hospital.

Dissolving Corporation

A statement of intent to dissolve a corporation has been filed with the office of John W. Lewis, secretary of state, by T.D. and R. Inc., of Madison. The owners, Thomas, Deloris and Richard Lee, formerly operated the Dairy Queen restaurant, 605 McCambridge Ave., Madison. The restaurant is under new management.

Jazz Dancing Taking Hold in SIUE Course

"Young people relate to jazz dancing," says Sara Carpenter, who teaches an experimental course at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. "They may never have liked ballet and probably consider ballroom dancing and folk dancing antiquated. But this they can really get into."

The course, in the SIUE department of health, recreation and physical education, is aimed at beginners, unlike most of the dance courses at SIUE which are filled with Fine Arts Division students planning careers in the theater.

"There's a lot of interest in modern jazz, both the music and the dancing that goes with it," Mrs. Carpenter said. "Some of the students become so involved they begin to enjoy other types of dance. Of course jazz dance relates back to folk dancing and African cultures, which were brought to America and those older forms have influenced jazz."

Mrs. Carpenter begins the course by "educating the bodies" of the students; after awakening the body to movement, she concentrates on isolated parts of the body, such as the head, shoulders and arms. "After that comes locomotion, moving across the floor," she said. "And finally we go to improvisation, where each student creates his own movements to jazz music."

Mrs. Carpenter, at SIUE since 1962, said she has been dancing "ever since I can remember." She started by teaching modern dance, then international folk dancing.

"Whatever the form, my main interest is to expose students to dancing for the first time," she said. "Most of the students coming to the university aren't exposed to dancing in elementary school or in junior and senior high school, either, so a lot of them don't know what dancing is all about."

The course, for one quarter hour of academic credit, will be offered again in the winter quarter because of the interest shown so far. Mrs. Carpenter said no one should feel inhibited about taking the course because most of her students are beginners.

"Dancing helps people physically and psychologically," she said, "and it gives people something to enjoy in their ever-increasing leisure time."

Students May Register For Winter Quarter

Students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville who failed to make appointments to register for winter quarter may still register Friday.

Robert Bruker, SIUE director of admissions and records, said registration is being held from 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. in the Meridian Hall of the University Center every day this week. Some appointments are available for Friday.

Persons registering this week have until Jan. 4 to pay their fees. Anyone not going through advance registration will have to register Jan. 2, the first day of winter quarter classes.

Bi-State May Be Taken to Court If Bonds Default

The Bi-State Development Agency may be taken into court, with a threat of closing the public transportation system in the metropolitan area, if it defaults in payments to bondholders in March.

Hollis P. Nichols, president of H. P. Nichols & Co., Boston investment firm which manages $225,000 worth of transit bonds in Bi-State, accused the agency of balking on terms of a 1963 agreement in which $26½ million in bonds were obtained to finance the transit system.

In a public letter, Nichols said, "The commissioners of the Bi-State authority have knowingly, consciously, intentionally refused to do what the authority in its indenture agreed to do. Neither the state nor city officials, either executive legislative or judicial, has responded to this abuse."

Nichols continued, "This is why, in due course, the courts will be asked to require the people of St. Louis to do what they promised to do. Every line which is not profitable will have to be closed even to the point where there is no public transportation system in St. Louis."

The Bi-State Agency noted earlier this year that unless there are new sources of revenue, operating expenses to keep the buses running will be depleted after the first of the year.

Agency commissioners predicted default on the multi-million dollar bond issue unless the city or the state of Missouri subsidizes the operation.

Nichols was critical of St. Louis while commenting that "this is why Illinois has wisely made proper provisions."
